Newton Centre Residents Divided On New Filling Station

Large Number Attend Hearing On Petition For Station At Willow and Centre Streets

A strong division of opinions was manifested by a large number of Newton Centre residents who came to City Hall on Monday night to attend a public hearing held before the Board of Aldermen on the petition of Louis Volpe and Joseph A. Allison who seek a permit to erect a gasoline filling station at 1148 Centre street, corner of Willow street, Newton Centre. Volpe owns a parcel of land on Willow street on which is his dwelling house, and Allison owns the property at the Volpe owns a parcel of land on Willow streets. When the city was zoned in 1922, these two small parcels of land were placed in a business zone because they abutted adjoining city owned property on which was located the building which housed Engine 3, Fire Alarm Headquarters and the barn of the Street Department. When the new Street Department building by Mr. Gallagher was Volpe owns a parcel of lan don Willow street on which is his dwelling house, and Allison owns the property at the Volpe owns a parcel of land on Willow streets. When the city was zoned in 1922, these two small parcels of land were placed in a business zone because they abutted adjoining city owned property on which was located the building which housed Engine 3, Fire Alarm Headquarters and the barn of the Street Department. When the new Street Department wilding was erected at Cook street, Newton Highlands, the barn on Willow street was demolished. Last year the new structure housing the modernized fire alarm system was erected on Centre street, just south of Willow street. Several months ago, when it became rumored that an effort would be made to obtain a permit for a gasoline filling station on the Volpe and Allison properties, Chief Randlett of the Fire De partment petitioned the Board of Aldermen to change these two properties from business to private residence zone. When the hearing was held on this petition a considerable number of Newton Centre residents appeared to favor and oppose it. Subsequently, the Board of Aldermen voted to refuse the petition.

Subsequently, the Board of Aldermen voted to refuse the petition a considerable number of Newton Centre residents appeared to favor and oppose it. Subsequently, the Board of Aldermen voted to refuse the petition a considerable number of Newton Centre residents appeared as attorney for the petitioners. He remarked that as the Aldermen had heard detailed descriptions of the two pieces of property at the hearing held a few months ago, he would not encroach upon their time by repeating the Gescription. He contended that isnice the Board had turned down the petition asking for a change of zoning on the properties, it proved that in the poinion of the Aldermen, this land was properly zoned. It adjoins what Mr. Gallagher terms a business property conducted by the City of Newton (the Fire Department), in connection with which a gasoline tank and pump are located on the city property.

Mr. Gallagher argued that the matter boils down to this question: "Its the use of the property for a gasoline filling station objectionable?" He said that he would show by the disposition of the community that no extended argument is necessary to prove that such a use is not objectionable? With a display of model airplanes, kite balloons, pylons, airport and a tower with revolving beacons, Troops 9 and 10, Waban, were awarded first place for their display at the Boy Scout Exposition of Norumbega Council, Inc., B. S. A., held at the West Newton Armory last week-end. In addition, Troop 9, Waban, had a regular, full-size low-wing monoplane under construction there, on which some of the older Scouts have been working for a long time. During the Exposition, in both their areas, Scouts of the two Troops were working away on model airplanes and rigging the kite balloons, of which there were two models, one five feet long and the other twelve feet long. Scouts made all of the kite balloons, except the rubber bladders, which they had made, for they lacked necessary facilities for making them.

Second place was tied between the Seascout Ship 14 Exhibit, which was "salty" to a great degree, with mast, sail, full-dress Ship, pictures, ropework and model boats made by the "gobs." The other winner of second place was the Eagle Patrol of Troop 18, Center, with a display of black-smithing work done by the members of that Patrol. The Eagle Patrol is making all the hardware fittings for Troop 18's cabin at Nobscot Reservation.

Third place went to the Blue Division of Troop 1, Newtonville, for their exhibit on Camping.

Scoutmasters Rhodes of Troop 9,

"The Plant Wizard and His Magic" is the motion picture to be shown at The Children's Museum of Boston Saturday, March 7, at 3:00. This motion picture deals with the life of Luther Burbank. It shows him in his home and garden, the conversion of thorny desert cactus into edible fruit and the famous "Burbank Wheat." A second film called "Bud to Blossom" gives glimpses of flowers coming into bloom before one's very eyes.

With the end of a strenuous vacation week in which the average attendance at the museum was 1,700 visitors a day, School Talks are being resumed. During school holidays every effort was made by the small staff to cope with the steady inflow of young visitors, most of them wishing to see the motion pictures in the series of Great Americans followed by a brief comedy film.

Spain and Bennett starred at Exeter after graduating from Newton high while Powers was one of the mainstays of the Deerfield Academy team for the past two years. Joe Gilligan, the youngest of the Gilligan brothers, is a freshman at Yale where during the past hockey season his playing causes him to be rated as one of the finest prospects to enter Yale for some time. He would pair well with Bennett on the defence. The wing opposite to Powers could be ably taken care of by Bill Sutcliffe a spare on the Harvard freshman outfit. Sutcliffe starred at Bridgton Academy after graduating from Newton high. In the net Everett Scheinfain of the Brown yearlings could handle many shots any attacking outfit would be likely to offer. Incidentally this sextet was the nucleus of the Newton high team several years ago.

-It's a new experience!

ONE of the chief reasons for the flashing acceleration and smooth speed and power of Nash Eight-80 and Eight-90 models is aircraft-type Twin-Ignition. In each cylinder, two spark plugs placed opposite each other, fire at precisely the same instant. The highly compressed gas ignites at two points. It is burned more quickly, efficiently. The result:-A more powerful explosion—instant responsiveness—notable gasoline economy.-The moment you step on the accelerator, you will realize the important difference Twin-Ignition makes. Let's go for a ride together-soon.

"Inspiration," starring Greta Garbo and Robert Montgomery, is the feature at the Paramount Theatre, Newton, for four days starting Sunday, March 8th. It is the popular star's third talking picture and considered her greatest. On the same program is "The Gang Buster," one of Jack Oakie's funniest pictures and a most exciting one also. Comedy works hand in hand with action to produce continued suspense and countless thrills. It is a gay picture, one that will keep you in the best of humor. For the last three days of the week "The Royal Family of Broadway" with two great stars as Ina Claire and Frederic March is the headliner, an unusual production. The co-feature is "Danger Lights" with Louis Wolheim, Robert Armstrong, and Jean Arthur. It is the greatest railroad thriller of the talkies. Remember to "See Your Photoplays in Newton."

POLICE NEWS

Paul Moran of Vernon street, Waltham, was fined $10 in the Newton court on Friday for driving without a license. Another charge against him of driving without proper lights, was placed on file. In court the same day Ferdinando Pacione of Oak avenue, West Newton was fined $5 for not slowing down while driving by a street intersection. tersection. Arthur Kimball of 33 Stuart road, west Newton was insed $5 for not slowing down while driving by a street intersection.

Arthur Kimball of 33 Stuart road, Newton Centre, was in the Newton court last Friday charged with keeping a biting dog. Dr. Edward Mellus had complained that his dog had been attacked by Stuart's dog. Kimball was ordered to restrain his "pet" and the case was continued until April 25.

The law has a long arm—sometimes. Allen Cogswell, 27, who formerly resided in Newton, discovered this last week when he was arrested at his residence, 282 Boston avenue, Medford, by Patrolmen Corcoran and Hammill of the Newton police. On July 26, 1924, Cogswell stole a valuable saxophone from Harold M. Root of 25 Breamore road, New.on, at whose home he was a roomer. The saxophone was recovered in a pawn-shop and Root had to pay $50 to redeem it. Cogswell was apprehended, tried in the Newton court, fined $100, and on his promise that he would pay Root the $50, the fine was suspended. Instead of keeping his promise, Coggswell dropped out of contact with the Newton police went there last Saturday, nabbed him and brought him once again to the Newton court. He was ordered to pay the long suspended fine, could not do so, and was sent to jail to work out the fine at the rate of 50 cents per diem. Which means that unless Allen can raise the dough, he will linger in the Middlesex County hoosegow for 200 days, which is about six months—and then some.

The homing instinct caused George Buckley of 993 Chestnut street, Newtan Upper Falls, to be taken to Middlesex County jail last Saturday. Last July he was arrested charged with assault and battery on his wife, and with failure to support her and his young child. He was sentenced then to serve 6 months in jail, but the sentence was suspended on condition that he support his family. He compiled with the condition of nis parole. So, when he appeared again at his home last Friday night, he was arrested and in the Newton court on Saturday the suspended sentence was made effective.

Frederick O'Donnell, 17, of 50 rested and in the Newton court on Saturday the suspended sentence was made effective.

Frederick O Donnell, 17, of 500 Main street, Watertown, and William Coughlin, 16, of 35 Oakland street, Watertown, were arrested Sunday by Sergt. King and Special Officers Feeley and Mullen charged with breaking and entering and with larceny. They were in the Newton court Monday and their cases continued until March 6. The two are accused of having broken into the miniature golf course of Edward Brock at 316 Washington street, Newton, on February 10th and having stolen $12 in cash. The police charge that the pair also stole blank checks from the building and each youth cashed one of these checks in stores at Newton Corner to the amount of $16.40.

For several weeks the Edison Company has been experiencing much trouble from having street lamps broken, apparently by boys. Last week 41 street lights were so broken. The Newton police were notified and have been on the watch for the cul-

The New Chevrolet Special Sedan—Product of General Motors

The big, modern Chevrolet Six is a fine performer. It maintains high road speeds at a low, easyworking engine speed. Its 50horsepower valve-in-head engine operates with unsurpassed economy. Six cylinders enable you to creep along, accelerate, climb hills, go fastand do it all smoothly, quietly -with little shifting of gears. If you have formed your opinion of Chevrolet quality solely from the car's fine appearancestep into a Chevrolet and drive. Because performance, too, points to Chevrolet as the Great American Value.

WAR VETERANS' CARD PARTY.
Mrs. Walter H. Woods, chairman of the Division of Co-operation with War Veterans, is arranging for a St. Patrick's Day card party at the United States Veterans' Hospital, Northampton, to which all Club chairmen are cordially invited. The party will leave
Boston by bus, at 8.30 a. m., on March 17. arriving at Northampton at noon.
They will leave there at 4.30 p. m., arriving back at Boston about 8 p. m.
The cost of the trip will be about $3 each. Those who desire reservations should telephone to Mrs. Woods, Aspinwall 3643, or to Mrs. John F. Osborn, University 2069-W, as soon as possible. The Hospital authorities are looking forward to meeting many of the War Veteran committee chairmen, and it should prove a splendid opportunity for becoming acquainted and for learning much. It is hoped to make this an annual event.

and for learning much. It is hoped to make this an annual event.

WOMAN WAR VETERAN. Mrs. George Oliver Gillingham, General Federation chairman of Co-operation with War Veterans, appeals to the Club women not to forget the women who served in the war. About 22,000 women—including a Federation Unit—carried cheer and did welfare work "over there." Some of these women veterans are now disabled and in Government hospitals. She asks state, county, and local chairmen to help compile a list of women who served overseas, and when so doing, to indicate those now disabled and those who belong to the Federation Unit. Record of these names will be of use, even if not complete. She gives some most cheering news in the announcement that the Women's Overseas League, 598 29th avenue, San Francisco, California, particularly desires to know the names of, and to be of service to, women who have been more or less disabled since their return home. It is stated that no account has been taken of the Federation Unit veterans since the biennial at Des Moines, a period of ten years. Co-operation with Mrs. Gillingham should be immediate and wholehearted. Surely the women veterans should have the care and assistance given to the men.

NEWTON AGAIN HONORED IN EDUCATIONAL FIELD

At the thirty-ninth annual meeting of the National Headmaster's Association recently held at the Westchester Country Club, further honors in the field of education came to Newton through the election of Irving O. Palmer, principal of the Newton High School, as president of the association. As the association is composed almost entirely of the heads of the leading private and college preparatory schools of the country it is an unusual occurrence when a public school man is honored with the presidency. The office comes as a distinct honor to Mr. Palmer, who has served Newton faithfully for many years, and also recognition of the outstanding reputa-tion which the Newton High School has enjoyed for many years for the high quality of its college preparatory work.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

There will probably be plenty of There will probably be plenty of politics before the session is over due to the fact that there must be a rearrangement of Congressional districts, with allowance for only 15 districts where formerly, including the last election, there were 16. The census is responsible and because of the figures of last year Massachusetts gets only 15 Congressmen. You can imagine the task that is before the special redistricting committee of eight Senators and twenty-four Representatives. Whatever the report it cannot result will be.

For several years bills have been offered to increase the salary of the Governor but the amount paid annually to the chief executive has remained at $10,000. The Committee on Public Service has reported a bill to increase the Governor's salary from $10,000 to $20,000 and those of the members of the Council from $1500 to $2000. The increase would be effective in 1933.

Another problem which promises considerable debate is the request of the Committee on Transportation for authority to conduct an investigation into the matter of control of New England railroads. This committee would like to have authority to summon witnesses and place them under oath in order to broaden its powers in obtaining information for its guidance in recommending future legislation.

The attempt of a group of Republicans to have a law permitting a State committee of a political party to elect a chairman from outside its membership has thus far succeeded. The Senate substituted such a bill for the adverse report of the Committee on Election Laws. However, the end is not yet and the bill will have to take some hurdles before its enactment if that should come about.

Boston seems likely to receive legislative authority to expend money for athletic wearing apparel and clothing for use of pupils of the public schools. There may be an attempt made to have this a general bill to include such cities and towns as are willing to accept its provisions.

The Governor's recommendation for an appropriation of $270,000 for extending the work of the State Reclamation Board in getting rid of mosquitoes has been advanced and will undoubtedly become law. The bill is somewhat different from that recommended by the Governor in that it leaves to the discretion of the board the selection of the territory where the mosquito control work is to be done. The Governor had favored Bristol and Plymouth counties. But the chief point made by the Governor was to give employment to some $800 and this appears to have been accomplished.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

It is peculiar why so many Newton residents go to Boston to trade when they could do as well, or better, if they traded at home. Take the automobile business, for instance. All the salesrooms conducted by automobile dealers in this city were open on February 23, Washington's Birthday. Despite this, many Newton residents travelled into automobile salesrooms in Boston. Newton people should patronize the automobile dealers, as well as the other business men of this city who are anxious and capable of providing just as good service as can be obtained elsewhere.

UNIQUE SERVICE PLANNED FOR UNION PROGRAM

"A Service of Spiritual Deepening" is the name of the unique service in the program of the Union Lenten calendar of the Newtonville Churches this Sunday night. There will be no sermon in this service. Soft music, the reading of great religious utterances, prayer and silence for meditation will be used to inspire a mood of personal worship. In commenting on this service, the Rev. M. S. Kapp of the Universalist Church says, "in the hustle and struggle of modern life, people rarely have adequate opportunity for re-integrating their shattered lives in terms of spiritual unity. They nity for re-integrating their shattered lives in terms of spiritual unity. They tend to become nerve-frazzled, irritable and obsessed with a sense of frustration. Certainly one of the functions of the church is to provide opportunity for the inward rehabilitation of man's life. This service is one of our attempts to meet the need. People who are worried, or anxious or fearful—people who are heartsick or burdened with a sense of loss—people for whom life has become stale and flat—these are especially urged to come to the quiet and recreative loveliness of this service of Spiritual Deepening."

ening."

The Rev. M. S. Kapp will conduct this service, and he will be assisted by the ministry of music from the Newtonville Church of the New Jerusalem, with Reginald Capon in charge.

This service will be held at the Newtonville Methodist Church and will begin at seven-thirty in the evening.

Newton Girl Scouts were very glad to have a share in the Boy Scout Exposition this week. As each booth was to tell the story of a Scout activi-ty, the Girl Scouts made a Girl Scout ty, the Girl Scouts made a Girl Scout Trail.

The hill, up which this trail wound, was very real, built of sand and rocks. Small trees, shrubs, and little plants were growing on the hill-side and along the trail itself. There was even a small vegetable garden. Toy cows and sheep were pastured in the fields. At the start of the trail at the foot of the hill, a little Brownie doll with her pet dog sat under a toad stool. (It is under toad stools that Brownies hold their pow-wows). She looked longingly up the trail at a Tenderfoot doll. At the beginning of the Tenderfoot doll. At the beginning of the Tenderfoot part of the trail stood the American flag, between two sign posts, on one of which was printed the Girl Scout Laws. The Tenderfoot trail was marked by sign posts made by Girl Scouts, depicting Scout work, nature projects — Bird, Tree, and Flower Finder, and out-door activities. Pathfinder, Pioneer, Woodcraft signs marked the turns and gave a warning signal—a bull was standing near the trail.

ing signal—a bull was standing near the trail.

As the Girl Scout climbed upward on the trail, she passed a sign post marking Second Class activities and climbing sever upward, she at last reached the First Class goal.

Near the top of the hill was a reproduction of the Letter of Commendation, a character award and the highest honor a Girl Scout may attain. Also at the end of the trail was a reproduction of the Golden Eaglet pin. Its purpose was not to represent the number of badges the Girl Scout had earned but, with a soft light shining in it, to symbolize all the ideals for which Girl Scouting stands.

Just off the trail at the foot of the hill was a lake where a Girl Scout was ready for a swim. A row boat was tied to the shore, a fire was built in the open, and a Scout's life saving equipment was near at hand. At the right a sign represented the Bugle and Drum Corps.

This Girl Scout Trail hoped to tell the story of a Girl Scout climbing ever upward toward the highest ideals of life, keeping always in mind her home and community and how she may serve both.

station would be virtually on City property.

That would be a mournful ending of the enterprise for the beautifying of the centre of our lovely village, begun forty years ago by such citizens as Joseph R. Leeson, who was President of the Newton Centre Improvement Society; Mellen Bray, Alden Speare, Judge Bishop, father of the present Judge Bishop, Stephen Greene, all of whom, and many others, were contributors to the $30,000 which that little Park system and Playground cost.

The City has recently secured a somewhat similar triangle further west on Homer street and Commonwealth avenue, for a Municipal Centre; and on which it is proposed to build a City Hall.

Suppose the City had secured that tract all but the very apex of it; and on that apex it was proposed to build a filling station! The proposition would be unthinkable! Something like that is the feeling of a great many people of Newton Centre at the thought of a filling station in the centre of our little Park system.

As a citizen of Newton Centre, interested for nearly forty years in its welfare, solicitous to increase rather than diminish its beauty, I beg your honorable body to visit our village before granting the license; and your own eyes will convince you of the inappropriateness of the proposition.

And the refusal of permission will work no hardship to the users of gasoline, because a half a minute away from that spot by automobile there are four filling stations near the interestion of Sumer and Beacon streets.

Mrs. Knapp gleaned some very interesting selections from Selzman's "English Life in the Middle Ages," a new book from the Newton Library, purchased because of the earnest request for the book, a fact which shows how the Library caters to the needs of the reading public.

Another charter member, Miss Ellen C. Williams, gave the second paper of the program, on "Richard II." In carefully chosen language Miss Williams reminded the Club of the universal love for pageants, referring to the many historical scenes brought through the help of pageants last year in Massachusetts, and then she skilfully transferred her audience to St. Lambert's Field, Coventry, England, to a scene enacted five hundred years ago, where armed knight met armed knight in mortal combat; where kings, queens, nobles and knight met armed their parts, quite innocent of the fast that what they were doing would be immortalized in one of Shakespeare's historical plays, viz. In Hollywood, where everything is stupendous, a lady is suing a well-known moving picture director and producer for six hundred and one thousand dollars. She charges that when she kept an appointment, to discuss her desire to rise in her profes-sion, the gentleman was guilty of a serious social affront.

Everything in the law suit is taken for granted, except the one thousand tacked on the six hundred thousand dollars. An insult might be worth six hundred thousand or a million, but how can it be worth exactly six hundred and one thousand? A cynic suggests that a press agent added the one to make the suit interesting.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

The thousands of automobile owners and operators in the Newtons who travel regularly over Washington street and who suffer physical and financial distress because of the damage resulting to themselves and their cars due to the condition of the street, can now look forward to ultimate relief. A conference was held this week between Newton officials and officials of the Metropolitan District Commission. The city officials were informed that work will be started next June on the laying under Washington street of the huge 60 inch main which will carry water from the Metropolitan system to parts of Greater Boston. This big pipe will run from the gate house at Weston under Commonwealth avenue and Rowe street, thence by either Border or Webster street to Elm street. It will then run under Washington street to Peabody street, Pearl, Centre and Maple streets to the bank along the Charles River. The big trench to be dug for the pipe will be about eight feet deep and from 6 to 8 feet wide. It is expected that the work will be finished next September and two shifts of men will be employed at times. The work will be done by contract and will probably not afford much relief to the unemployed in this city as such work calls for men of rugged physique accustomed to this type of labor.

Winter Lightning Storm Causes Damage

Bolts Strike In Newto

As an added attraction to the heavy wind and rain storm which prevailed in this section all day and evening last Sunday, a lightning storm in the winter season struck terror to timid persons on Sunday night. A bolt hit the residence of Theodore Lockwood at 74 Elmhurst road, Newton, shattering a window. Another bolt hit a tree on Waitham street, West Newton. A plugged catch basin caused the boiler room at Newton High School to become partly flooded. For the second time within the past couple of weeks, Wilde road, an unaccepted street off Beacon street, Waban, became flooded to a depth of several feet and once again Engine 1 from Newton Corner was despatched to the scene to pump off the water, leaving Newton's most thickly populated section without its regular fire protection for several hours.

regular fire protection for several hours.

Wilde road is a short, crescent shaped street where formerly the surface water drained off on natural slopes. As the land on this street has been built upon, the former channels for the disposal of the surface water have been closed up, thus causing the water to form a small pond after each heavy storm. It is improbable that the city will continue going to the expense of sending a fire pump to this street after each storm and the result will probably be that the city will build a drain on Wilde road under the Betterment Law.

The annual election of officers of Newton Lodge of Elks was held at the regular meeting last night. The spirit of harmony prevailing in the Lodge was evidence by the fact that there were no contests; all of the officers being elected unanimously. The officers for the ensuing year are: Dr. Fred M. Lowe, Exalted Ruler; D. Walter Kern, Leading Knight; William F. Parker, Loyal Knight; Hugh Boyd, Lecturing Knight; Thomas F. Called To Fitchburg

M. A. Kapp Of Universalist

Announcement was recently made of the resignation of the Rev. M. A. Kapp of the Newtonville Universalist Church, where Mr. Kapp has been minister for nearly three years. An invitation to become the minister of the Fitchburg Universalist Church beginning April 13 has been accepted by the Newtonville minister.

While serving as minister of the local church, Mr. Kapp pursued his theological studies at Harvard and took a degree as Master of Theology from Harvard in June, 1930. He has also served as President of the National Young People's Christian Union, and as vice-president of the Boston Universalist Minister's Association, besides being active in the religious education program of the Universalist denomination

In addition to the pastoral work in connection with the Fitchburg Church, Mr. Kapp has been asked to accept the appointment as chaplain of the House of Correction in Fitchburg.

CHAIN STORE MANAGER SAYS HE WAS ABDUCTED

Harry Stewart, 24, of 106 Calvary street. Waitham, manager of a chain grocery store at 811 Washington street. Newtonville, William McKenzie, 20, of Dudley street, Roxbury, and Thomas Daly, 19, of Jamaica Plain were the three occupants of an automobile arrested by Connecticut State troopers at 4 a. m. Tuesday morning at Berlin, Connecticut. As the police held up the car at pistol point, Stewart asked them to rescue him, as he was being kidnapped.

According to the story Stewart told the police, McKenzie, who he knew, and Daly came to his house and invited him to go with them to a party in Brighton at about 6.45 Monday evening. They went towards Brighton, then overcame him, and forced him to accompany them in the car to Connecticut.

This is not the first time Stewart

City Hall Associates Elect Dempsey Pres.

Leon Mayer of the Newton Public Buildings Department tendered his resignation as President of the City Hall Associates at the annual meeting of the organization yesterday, and James Dempsey, Executive Secretary to Mayor Sinclair Weeks, was unanimously elected in his place. The Association, which comprises the "municipal family" of Newton, includes in its membership the department executives and the clerical, trades and mechanical forces. It has been in existence for nine years and is an exclusive social and welfare society of city employees.

Miss Esther Burr, also a secretary to Mayor Weeks, was chosen vice-president and Miss Margaret Curley, clerk of the Water Department was elected Secretary-Treasurer. Annual Reports submitted indicated that 1930 was the most successful year of the association since its organization. Its unusually fine financial condition and the success of its diversified activities was praised by George E. Stuart, Street Commissioner, one of the charter members.

A vote of appreciation was extended by the associates to Mr. Leon Mayer, to Miss Theresa Goddard, the retiring Secretary-Treasurer, and to Mrs. Ebba Cullen, outgoing vice-president. The City Hall Associates recently held its mid-winter dance and assembly in the historic Williams Tavern in Marlboro.

AMERICANIZATION CLASSES

Amountement has been made by differers of the Nonantum Civic Association that classes in Americanization will be held each Wednesday and Friday evening in the rooms of the Nonantum-Athletic Association, 85 Dalby St., Newton, to which all persons desirous of becoming naturalized American citizens are welcome.

Six instructors, under the direction of Mr. Louis Tabald, are now engaged in the work and the classes are the first of their kind ever conducted in the Nonantum section of the city.

Ever since the inauguration of this work the classes have steadily increased in size, until at present there are 70 prospective citizens being trained.

HIGHLAND GLEE CLUB HOLDS DINNER

The Highland Glee Club of Newton. Inc., held an informal dinner for its active members at the Parish House of Trinity Episcopal Church, Newton Centre, last evening. Sixty active members were present. Rev. Dr. Edward T. Sullivan, the guest of honor, spoke informally.

These get-togethers are always very delightful occasions, and the enthusiastic response of the Club's active membership is but another reminder of their loyalty to their organization.

Preparations for the next concert on March 24th are well along. The soloist is to be Felix Fox, planist.

FATALLY INJURED

At 7.10 Monday morning a sedan driven by Bernard Marchant, 24, of 129 Arsenal street. Waterfown, skidded on the slippery surface of Centre street, near Converse avenue and veered into the path of two heavy trucks coming south, up the grade. Marchant managed to swerve his car out of the course of the first truck, and it slid across the street only to skid back again into the second truck. The car was badly wrecked and Marchant received fatal injuries, including a fractured skull. He was rushed to the Newton Hospital where his name was placed on the danger list. The truck he collided with is owned by Jacob Epstein of Dorchester and was driven by Abe Johnson of Dorchester. Marchant died from the result of his injuries on Tuesday afternoon. He was in the employ of Everett Bros., a Watertown trucking firm. He was married and is survived by his widow.

John Ryan of 16 Murray road, West Newton, died yesterday at St. Elizabeth's Hospital. He was born in West Newton 42 years ago, the son of the late Captain and Mrs. John Ryan. He was employed by Jordan Marsh & Company, Boston, and was a member of the American Legion. He is survived by his widow and one daughter, and three sisters. His funeral service will be held Monday morning at St. Bernard's Church.

Accept Plans For City Employed On School Hall And War Memorial

Mayor And Aldermanic Committee

Tuesday night at City Hall a conference was held between Mayor Weeks, and those members of the Board of Aldermen who comprise the City Hall committee and the Public Buildings committee. Also present were Charles Collens, architect of the proposed new buildings, and Cecil Chadwick, Buildings Commissioner.

Chadwick, Buildings Commissioner.

Detailed plans of the structure were shown which gave the Aldermen definite ideas of the exterior appearance of the combined buildings, the lay-out of the various department headquarters in City Hall and the amount of space allotted to each. The plans for the Aldermanic Chamber, the Memorial Hall, quarters for the several patriotic organizations and other features of the building group were explained. The plans, as shown met with the unanimous approval of the Mayor and Aldermen and it was voted to accept them.

The architects were instructed to complete the working plans. These will probably be ready in several weeks and then bids will be asked for on the structure. The buildings will be of Georgian type architecture in general, combined with pleasing classic effects. A tower about 150 feet high will surmount the group and a toweret on the City Hall section of the structure will serve to embellish the roof outline. Red brick and stone will compose the exterior material of the buildings and they will be of strictly fireproof construction. Removable steel partitions will be largely used in dividing the department offices and other sub-divisions in City Hall. This will permit of changes in the interior arrangements to meet varying needs in coming years.

The city obtained from the Legislature the right to borrow $750,000 outside the debt limit to finance the building of the City Hall and War Memorial. It is probable that about a quarter of a million more dollars will be required to complete the buildings, furnish them and landscape the large area of land in the "triangle". nish them and landscape the large area of land in the "triangle."

GETTING READY FOR BIG

A large crew of engineers from the Metropolitan District Commission has been making surveys the past week along Elm. Washington. Peabody, Pearl and the other streets in which the huge main will be laid to carry water from the gate-house at Weston to a connection at North Brighton. It is expected that bids for digging the big trench and laying the 60 inch pipes will be received next month and work will be well under way in June. Several months will be needed for the completion of the work and it is probable that traffic along Washington street, as well as on the other streets, will be seriously impeded while the big job is in progress.

MISSES THIRD TITLE BY NARROW MARGIN

The Newton High school indoor track team missed its third big title of the year last Saturday by the nartrack team missed its third big title of the year last Saturday by the narrow margin of but two points and one quarter when Boston English High school athletes came through in the annual State Meet at the East Armory, Boston. The Hub school with 19%4 points successfully defended the title it won in 1930 with the Newton youths scoring 17½ for second place. These two teams battled for supremacy right down to the last event with the other schools, figured as contenders before the meet, losing all hope as each event was concluded. Third place went to Lynn English with 11½, fourth to Brockton with 10, fifth to Brookline with 9¾, sixth to Lynn Classical with 9½, seventh Medford with 7¾, eighth Lawrence 6½ and six other schools scored between 5½ and 2½ points each in the Class A division for the larger schools. Watertown High, with 27½ points, outdistanced its competitors in Class B to win the crown without question. Watertown High, with 27½ points, outdistanced its competitors in Class B to win the crown without question. Watertown won four first places to turn back the threats made by Arlington, second place winners with 15½ points.

The field events, concluded before the track events were started, pro-made by Arlington, second place winners with 15½ points.

The field events, concluded before the track events were started, provided Newton with 5½ points. Lynn Classical, with Niblock and Winer taking first and second for eight points, went right out in the lead but failed to place in any other event but the relay and were out of the championship race in short order. Geniawicz of Lynn English took first in the shot put with a record breaking heave of 51 ft. 4½ inches and Looney of the same team was one of the four in a tie for second in the high jump. This put Lynn English in second at this point with 6½ points. But Lynn English later scored only in the dash and relay. With Varney of Brookline taking the high jump and Plotkin fourth in the broad jump the Wealthy Towners were right in the running. Newton scored in all three field events with Stanley Johnson taking third in the broad jump. Jim Colligen third in the shot put and Captain Milton Green figuring in the quadruple tie for second in the high jump. Zait of Boston English, with a second in the shotput, garnered all of the Boston schools's field event points. Colligen had beaten the champion's weight man in previous meets this season and when the latter turned the tables it was costly to the orange and black.

The first track event was the 300-LETTERS AWARDED At a meeting of the Newton High school athletic committee on Tuesday letter awards were made to members of the various winter sports teams. Varsity Track

NEWTON NINE WILL HAVE FINE BATTERY

Battery prospects for the Newton high school baseball nine this spring are excellent with two veteran pitchers and one veteran catcher among five available lettermen. George Kraber, senior, and Tommy Rhodes, sophomore, who divided the brunt of the box work last Spring are the twirlers on hand while George Hidreth will don the mask and mitt. A flock of candidates answered the call to practice on Monday by Coach John L. Sullivan for batterymen. Thirty-two would-be pitchers and about half that number of catchers have been working out this week in the old gymnasium at Newton-ville. The squad will be cut today in order that the Newton mentor can devote his time to those of known ability and several other outstanding prospects.

Unless something unforeseen develops the orange and black should have a quartet of pitchers of more than ordinary schoolboy ability. Kraber and Rhodes were last year's standbys with Rhodes, a freshman, showing much promise. With his year's experience he should be even better this season and with two more years to go has a chance to make quite a name for himself. Jimmy McAdams, a junior, and Philip Giles, a sophomore, are the other pair from whom much is expected. McAdams probably would have made the grade last year but for scholastic difficulties. Giles pitched many games for the intermediate varsity a year ago when a freshman, lack of experience and strength preventing him from keeping step with his classsity a year ago when a freshman, lack of experience and strength preventing him from keeping step with his classmate, Rhodes. Other youths who may develop into varsity calibre are Fred Perkins, the football end, Edwin Weidig, basketball guard, Paul Andres, younger brother of Hal and Phil Andres whose athletic prowess is well known, and Bradford Dyer who was brought up to the varsity last year some ideas from my modest efforts. At least that is my intention and nothing. more.

The general run of plays, I find, portray slices of everyday life, including disagreeable things that people do and say. They appear to follow closely the so-called naturalistic methods, emphasizing plain speech or talk that may offend many people. The criticism that such and such a play appeared "interesting, although somewhat coarse in places," is answered by the statement that those are the kind of plays that are written nowadays. In a sense that is true. For some reason of other the playwrights think that to make their plays artistic successes they should omit nothing. If the chief character indulges in profanity there is plenty of it sprinkled in the text in order that the characterization may nrove accurate. If subjects are discussed that make the more conservative members of the audience shudder the explanation is offered that "it is true to life."

The plays today are not those of 25

the explanation is offered that "it is true to life."

The plays today are not those of 25 years ago. What was considered daring a generation back is as mild as a radio bedtime story. Plays today are photographic and the negatives are not always pleasing. I have read plays that were rated as AI, others which failed after a short run and a number that were written with little bane of presentation except before a limited number. The aim of these authors seems to be the same. They must set before you people as they find them and nut them into situations such as neonle find themselves confronted with in this period of the twentieth century.

This, I believe, we should bear in mind in looking at the stage today. The style of play that a decade or more ago was popular has been shelved. They are not writing romances with the happy ending. Such things are left to the "talkies." You yourself must have seen how the "talkies" make over the endings of stage plays, delete a lot of dialogue which to use a slang phrase is often "rough," and in other ways change things. I offer this, not as argument or criticism, but merely to show you that the 1931 school of playwriting has a different set of ideals and if you so to see professional or amateur stage productions that represent the theatre of today you must be prepared for anything.

respect as well as circulation and the may be one reason the World failed. In all the discussion about the paper there is one story which I think worth repeating. Unfortunately I don't know if it is true, but that need not prevent a laugh, if you are so inclined. The yarn is of reporter who had been assigned, with a telegrapher, to send a story from an athletic event. This reporter was on edge, as were all on the paper, because he did not know whether the paper was going to print the following morning. It might "blow up" that night as far as he knew. It is said that he was urged by the telegrapher to send in a story anyway and that he did, addressing it, "To the New York World IF ANY."

"To the New York World IF ANY."

With your kind permission, I would like to take up the subject of "set-backs." I do not mean reverses of fortune, which are often too serious and complicated for the ordinary mind, let alone one that is below par. The "setbacks" I refer to are conducted by the Boston Elevated whose employes so describe the operation of running a car from the Watertown carbarn to meet an incoming car for the purpose of changing crews. The occasion of a "setback" is the tardiness of the outward bound car. The latter, sunnosed to reach the Watertown car barn at a certain bour, finds listelf crawline through Brighton or somewhere in Newton this side of Oals somewhere in Newton the Newton the New

Human beings so like to call attention to the proverbial "perversity of inanimate things" and to illustrate their breaks with the example of the schools of the vote that the conductors pause to do some book and a conservation. I have an idea they making made the trip without accident the work in their treatment of inanimate things. That will be different, let's dwell for a moment on the perversity of human beings in their treatment of inanimate things. That will be different, won't it?

For instance, there was an amateur photographer who offered to show me a new type of plate-holder which he was using. Of course, I know little about picture-making, but my knowledge is sufficiently broad to permit me to realize that the admission of light to a photographic plate before it is developed will ruin the negative. Despite my realization of that fact and the warning of the photographer to which I paid only a little that the admission of light to a photographic plate before it is developed will ruin the negative. Despite my realization of that fact and the warning of the photographer to which I paid only a little that the admission of light to a photographic plate before it is developed will ruin the negative. Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

Members of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands are anticipating an interesting meeting on Tuesday, March 17, at 2.30 p. m., in the Parish House of the Congregational Church, when the American Home Committee presents as speaker of the day, Alice Foote MacDougall, founder of the New York coffee houses of that name, who will address the Club on the topic, "What is Success?" The story of Mrs. MacDougall's career is well-known, and appeals to interest. Twenty-two years ago, left with three small children and a capital of thirty-eight dollars, she has risen against odds which would have crushed a less indomitable spirit, to the position of one of the most successful women in the country. She is of Massachusetts ancestry, her father being a member of one of Springfield's first families. The following books by Alice Foote MacDougall may be obtained from the Branch Library in Newton Highlands; "Autobiography of a Business Woman," "Coffee and Waffles," and "Secret of Successful Restaurants." At the conclusion of her talk there will be a Kaffee Klatsch, the Social committee serving coffee donated by Mrs. MacDougall, and there will be an opportunity for Club members and guests to meet her. Under the direction of Mrs. Thomas D. Ginn, the Club Chorus will sing two selections during the afternoon.

On Monday, March 16, at 9.30 o'clock, in the Workshop, the Drama Class will meet to study "Green Pastures," by Mark Connelly, Mrs. Charles G. Wetherbee will lead.

Charles G. Wetherbee will lead.

The final lecture in the Child Psychology course will be given on Friday, March 20, at 2.30 o'clock in the Workshop, Miss Mary S. Bullard, graduate of the Wheelock and Montesorri Schools, Principal of the Children's School, Newton Highlands, and a Club member, will discuss the "Psychology of Story Telling," illustrating her talk with stories appropriate for children. In connection with these lectures, the local branch of the Newton Library has on display a splendid collection of books for parents.

Mr. Staples has lived on the Navajo reservation at Coolidge, New Mexico, for twelve years. Through his friendship with the Indians, he has done much to perpetuate the Arts and Crafts of the Tribe. His exhibit is interesting, and his lecture authoritative and entertaining.

The Indian work will be illustrated by three Navajo Indians. A woman will show the spinning of wool into yarn, and the weaving of it into beautiful blankets. A man will hammer silver into rings, bracelets and necklaces, while a medicine man will make the sacred sand pictures. This promises a most unusual and delightful entertainment.

Mr. Staples is especially interested in speaking to school children, and it is hoped that many will avail themselves of this splendid opportunity to come and see this artistic and instructive program.

The Art committee ,with Mrs. William C. Noetzel as chairman, is offering a rare opportunity to the members of the Newton Centre Woman's Club and their friends in having arranged for an exhibition in the Art and Gallery of the paintings of Herman Dudley Murphy and his wife, Nellie Littlehale Murphy. This exhibition will open on the morning of March 17th, at 11 a. m., when morning coffee will open to the public from 2 until 1 p. m. Thereafter, the gallery will be served to Club members until 1 p. m. Thereafter, the gallery will be open to the public from 2 until 5 p. m., for a period of ten days.

Mr. Murphy is a still-life painter, having studied under Paul Lorens of Paris. He is an associate of the National Academy of Design, a member of the Copley Society and of the Guide medals from the Pan American, St. Louis and San Francisco Expositions, and the Peterson Prize of the Chicago Art Institute. MEETING OF ALDERMEN

At the meeting of the Board of Al-dermen on March 2nd the following permits were granted on the recom-mendation of the Licenses Committee: Frank Toscano, 8 car repair shop at 10 Border street, West Newton; M. con Chevrolet Company, license to deal in second hand cars at 714 Beacon street.

Aiderman Grebensteain, chairman of the Claims and Rules Committee recommended that leave to withdraw be granted to a number of claims against the city. Included in these were the claims of Jane C. Donaldson, 39 Ricker road, Newton; Christine Murphy, 75 Floral street, Newton Highlands; Michael McDonald, 162 Warren street, Newton Centre; Dr. Frank M. Vaughan, Boston; George F. Shadwell, 242 Walnut street, Brookline; George Weierich, 120 Jackson street, Newton Centre; Dr. S. A. Wilkinson, 1548 Beacon street, Waban; Thomas Dalby Company, Morse street, Watertown.

Mrs. Donaldson asked for damages for personal injuries caused by falling on the icy surface of Hood street, Newton. This claim was rejected because the city is not liable when persons fall on icy streets. Christine Murphy, through Hazel Murphy, asked for damages for personal injuries caused by a fall on a sidewalk on Lincoln street, in the business section at Newton Highlands. This sidewalk had not been cleaned of snow, and had become icy. A similar claim was that of Michael McDonald in behalf of his wife, who fell on an icy sidewalk on Union street, in the business section at Newton Centre. These claims were rejected because the city is not liable when persons fall on icy sidewalks of snow within 24 hours atter the end of a storm. These claims were rejected because the city is not liable when persons fall on icy sidewalks.

Aldermen Temperley and Powers called attention to the fact that there is a city ordinance which compels owners or tenants of property to clean adjoining sidewalks of snow within 24 hours atter the end of a storm. These two aldermen asserted that if this ordinance were enforced by the police fewer residents of Newton would receive injuries by falling on sidewalks.

Alderman Grebenstein told Alderman Gre

ceive injuries by falling on sidewalks. Alderman Grebenstein told Alderman Temperley that inasmuch as Lincoln street is in his ward, he should take the matter up with the Chief of Police. Mr. Temperley answered that this is an executive matter and should receive the attention of the Mayor. The claim of Dr. Vaughan was for $430 damages to his car caused when he was driving it across the abandoned car tracks near the corner of Commonwealth avenue and Washington street while the latter street was being resurfaced last September. The car went into a hole which caused it to strike the rails. The Claims Committee, on advice of the City Solicitor, decided that the city is not liable. George F. Shadwell asked damages from the city because his car skidded on the icy surface of Beacon street near the Newton Hospital on January 10th and collided with the traffic sign at the corner of Beacon and Washington streets. The committee reported that the city is not liable and the fact that Mr. Shadwell's car traveled a considerable distance down the grade on Beacon street, before it hit the signal, indicated it was travelling too fast under the prevailing conditions. Dr. Wilkinson's car hit a horse-drawn snowplow which pulled across Beacon street in front of him on the night of January 29. The committee reported that the liability, if any, was on the part of the automobile driver and he was fortunate that more serious results did not occur.

was fortunate that more serious results did not occur.

The Thomas Dalby Company claimed damages because coal stored on its premises was washed away after a rain storm. The company contended that the construction of the conduit through Boyd Park caused a greater volume of water to flow by its premises. The committee repudiated this contention and Mr. Grebenstein commented that it was unreasonable to claim that the construction of a conduit through the park would cause more water to come down Laundry fortunate that more serious re-

Lewis & Valentine, through a representative, wanted to establish a branch of their landscaping business (which the petitioners claimed would not be a business) at 1266 Commonwealth avenue, opposite Prince street. The person seeking this privilege expressed a willingness to cede land to widen the curve on Commonwealth avenue at this point. Members of the Claims Committee opposed the proposition because it would bring business into a high class residential section—and the land in question is not owned by the petitioners, so could not be given to the city by them.

We believe that unemployment is a is being given to the question of State finances, unemployment and taxation. We believe that unemployment is a situation that can and should be handled locally by the cities and towns throughout the state as far as possible. Any taxation measure that is passed to help relieve the unemployment problem will prove a boomerang in that eventually this tax will be paid out of the pockets of the working man. Doubtless considerable politics enters into the question and many legislators are looking forward to the next elections. Any increase in taxation at this time may prove to be a boomerang to them, as about that time the public may well be asking questions. The warning sign is out. NOT NEWS

The Weather Bureau states that a thunderstorm in March The Weather Bureau states that a thunderstorm in March is not news because the records show that the average is one such storm for this month. A thunderstorm in October, December and January is news because these are the only months in which the average drops below one. Last Sunday's storm, with the suddenness of the thunder and lightning, was news. Although lightning bolts struck in two places in Newton, fortunately the damage was slight. Without much doubt the driving rain did far more damage to ceilings, walls and sellers then did the lightning. cellars than did the lightning.

THE GASOLINE TAX

THE GASOLINE TAX

The Automobile Legal Association has taken the rightful action in planning to give the voters of the State the opportunity to vote on the increased gasoline tax in the form of a referendum. The Legislature should not declare this an emergency law. Such action would make the tax effective at once in which case the automobilists of the State would have paid on a one cent tax alone approximately ten millions before having the chance to voice their opinion. The referendum cannot be placed on the ballot until the 1932 election.

JUNIOR DRAMATICS

On Friday evening, March 6, the Junior Dramatic Club gave a presentation of "The Charm School", a three act comedy in the Newton Centre Woman's Club House. Seldom has such a gay comedy been better presented here. From start to finish the large and enthusiastic audience cheered and laughed as the young people of high-school age gave the lines with an ease and command many older actors might envy. UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The Newton Representatives, Messrs. Baker, Luitwieler and Thompson were recorded among the "dry" votes when the House last Tuesday passed two "wet" measures. A bill that the Senate had rejected and which provides that within the limits of the State a beverage shall not be regarded as intoxicating unless it contains as much as 4½ percent alcohol was substituted for an adverse committee report, 117 to 109. The Newton House members, with the exception of Speaker Saltonstall who did not vote, were recorded against substitution.

They took the same stand when the House, by rollcall, 165 to 62, substituted for an adverse committee report a bill that Congress be memorialized to commence action to end National control of the liquor traffic and to restore to the States the power to regulate the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor.

The Senate also made a "wet" gesture last Tuesday when by a rising vote of 22 to 6 it adopted a resolution making application to Congress to call in the different States constitutional conventions to amend or repeal the 18th amendment, or itself propose such an amendment. What the outcome of this action in the two branches will be is a matter of speculation, but it is doubtful if anything is accomplished as far as disturbing the National Prohibition law is concerned. The 4½% beer bill has already been described by those who are in a position to know as having no effect since it is purely a State measure and conflicts with the National law. Those Senator Hollis said some pretty critical things at a hearing before the Committee on Municipal Finance when there was heard by the committee a bill of Mayor Curley for authority to borrow money to improve the airport in East Boston. Senator Hollis characterized as "outrageous" the city's system of permitting commercial airplane companies the use of the facilities of the port with comparatively little or no charges.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

General Pershing's story of the World War, which is appearing in the Boston Globe, contains very frank accounts of the differences he had with the leaders of this country's allies in the big war. This candor on the part of General Pershing does not surprise those who had opportunity to hear him voice his views while he was in command overseas. Early in March. 1919, General Pershing made a tour of Luxemburg and the Rhineland to inspect the divisions composing the Army of Occupation. At that time the writer was in Trier and was present at the Maximime Barracks when General Pershing reviewed and inspect the 354th Infantry, one of the units of the 89th Division. Following the review the regiment gathered about a platform which had been erected, and the General spoke freely about the ingratitude manifested by some of our allies following the Armistice. He stated that these allies were asserting that the war would have been won without America's assistance and he told his listeners not to stand for any such criticism if they should hear it.

He complimented the men of the 354th Infantry on the showing they had made in the review, and asserted the regiment to be the best appearing outfit he had inspected in the A. E. F. Whereupon one cynical individual, whose name we shall not mention, remarked to the party standing next to him: "Listen to the bologna." But, when, a couple of months later, Colonel Babcock of the 354th Infantry was selected by General Pershing to command the Provisional Regiment which represented the United States in the triumphal parades at Paris, Brussels and London, we realized that General Pershing to command the Provisional Regiment which represented the United States in the triumphal parades at Paris, Brussels and London, we realized that General Pershing to command the Provisional Regiment which represented the United States in the triumphal parades at Paris, Brussels and London, we realized that General Pershing to command the provisional Regiment was composed of picked officers and men selecte

Anyone who can sleep soundly in that section nights must be tired. To start with—the rattle-trap cars sent from East Boston last year for service on the Newton-Brighton line make such a racket that they not only disturb sleepers at night, but prevent persons in offices about Nonantum square from being able to properly perform their work daytimes. It is said that some of these cars are in such poor repair that motormen are nervous operating them. Newton's members of the Elevated trustees, Messrs. Harriman and Whiting, might well investigate the condition of these cars. Other sources of unnecessary noise at Nonantum square are some of the busses of the Middlesca & Boston. When these big vehicles start of the busses of the Middlesex & Boston. When these big vehicles start out from the square, the motor mufflers on them seem only to partly function, and a machine gun racket is the result. Taxi drivers who seek passengers at Nonantum square during late night hours indulge in too noisy solicitation of trade. All these types of noises are annoying to people residing near the square and should be stopped.

Frank H. Turgeon, proprietor of the Somerset Farms Creamery deserves special commendation, not only for providing cream of the highest quality to the people of Greater Boston, but for insisting on the utmost in cleanliness in the distribution of the food product he sells. The automobile trucks which deliver Somerset Farms Cream are kept spick and span, the drivers of these trucks wear immaculate uniforms and all precautions are taken to assure the cream being absolutely pure when received by those who use it. If care should be taken in the production and delivery of any food, it should be taken in the case of milk and cream. Mr. Turgeon has always made it his policy to take such care.

The present suggestion by the Massachusetts Tax Association that this tax be raised two cents, or about $11,000,000 annually, has so thoroughly roused the automobilists of Massachusetts that they now propose to fight any raise whatever.

The Automobile Legal Association and other organizations will see to it that the voters of the State shall have the opportunity of voting on this effort to saddle upon them an outlay of $11,000,000 annually to support a doubtful plan of expansion calculated to relieve a small class of unemployed, a large percentage of whom are aliens.

NEWTON SAVINGS BANK "The Place for My Savings"

Members of the Fellowship Club were very enthusiastic over a talk given by Dr. DeWitt G. Wilcox about a trip with his two grandsons in the Rocky Mountain District. The pictures were some of the finest that have ever been shown to the members of the club. Th speaker next week will be Mr. C. B. Faith.
Mr. Clyde G. Hess, Director of Boys' Work, attended the meeting of the National Camp Directors' Society at Washington, D. C., last week. While the automobilists of Massachusetts might have been willing to pay an additional tax of one cent on gasoline for one year, amounting to approximately $5,500,000, as their contribution to the restoration of normal conditions, the subsequent proposal to levy such a tax for the next four years, which would amount to approximately $22,500,000, roused them to protest against such a levy as uncalled for and which plainly indicates to them that the proposed increase was not for the purpose of relieving a temporary situation as alleged by its proponents.

State Boys' Day

The boys of the Newton Y. M. C. A. will conduct their 21st Annual State Boys' Day on Saturday, March 14th. For the past twenty years this day has been set aside and designated as State Boys' Day. The boys themselves become messengers and it is the one day that they are allowed to call upon their friends for financial aid. Last year they raised over $600. The money is used to help defray part of the expenses in the Boys' Division and the forces which the money will be released through the Y. M. C. A. are as follows: Camp Frank A. Day, three Hi-Y Clubs, six Younger Boys' Clubs, "Learn to Swim' Campaigns, Community Basketball Leagues, nikes, etc.

On Thursday the boys will deliver the envelopes explaining the purpose and on Saturday they will collect the gifts and bring them to the Treasurer at the Y. M. C. A. Headquarters.

THE DARTMOUTH MATRONS'

Next week Thursday the Dartmouth Matrons' Club will hold an entertainment and tea at the Women's Republican Club of Boston. Mrs. Elinor S. FORMER WEST NEWTON MAN FALLS TO DEATH

Thomas Nickerson, a former well known West Newton resident, was killed in New York City on Tuesday when he fell from the 9th story of the New York Athletic Club. He was born in West Newton, September 14, 1878, the son of Theodore N. and Kate Morton Cobb Nickerson. He graduated from Newton High School and from Harvard College in 1899. He was associated with Kidder, Peabody & Company until 1904. In that year his first wife, who was Fanny Bates Hardy of Auburndale, died and Mr. Nickerson entered the employ of Stone & Webster, going to Porto Rico. In the service of this corporation he was later stationed at Seattle, Washington. In 1917 he became associated with the Walworth Manufacturing Company on the Pacific Coast and later he was made manager of the New York office of the Walworth Company.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Marie Phillips Nickerson, who gained fame on the stage under the name of Phyllis Sherwood. He is also survived by a son, Thomas Nickerson, Jr., and a sister.

PARAMOUNT THEATRE-NEWTON

George Bancroft, Kay Francis and

George Bancroft, Kay Francis and Clive Brook share the honors in their new picture, "Scandal Sheet," which comes to the Paramount Theatre, Newton, on Sunday for four days. It is a great newspaper story with plenty of scandal. On the same program will be "The Royal Bed" with Lowell Sherman and Mary Astor. The hilarious theme makes it a picture to enthuse over.

Starting Thursday and running through Saturday, Gary Cooper and Lily Damita in "Fighting Caravans" is the feature. It has been said that where the "Covered Wagon" left off "Fighting Caravans" begins. It is a story of the big outdoors and a thrilling spectacle of the indomitable courage of men and women. On the same program is "Once A Sinner" with Dorothy Mackaill and Joel McCrea. It is a drama of a modern Magdalene.

A few of the coming spring hits are such pictures as "Stolen Heaven" with Nancy Carroll, "Kept Husband" with Dorothy Mackaill and "Cimarron" with Richard Dix.

GIRL SCOUTS The Newton Girl Scout Movie which was held at the Paramount Theatre on Saturday morning proved to be most successful. The audience was large and enthusiastic and judging by the laughter and applause the children appreciated both the pictures and the demonstration given by the Newton Girl Scout Bugle and Drum Corps.

Corps.

More than 1300 tickets were sold and the girls donated a large amount of candy which added materially to the proceeds. Troop 1 of Newtonville, Mrs. Frank Johnson captain, sold 257 tickets. There are 25 girls in the troop. Troop 25 of West Newton, Miss Caroline L. Freeman captain, with 23 members sold 143 tickets. Troop 20 of Newton, Miss Virginia Brown captain, composed of 25 members, sold 115 tickets.

The management of the Paramount Theatre did everything in their power to cooperate with the Girl Scouts and to make this movie a success. The Girl Scouts are very appreciative of all Mr. Snider did for them.

dirl Scouts are very appreciative of all Mr. Snider did for them.

The third regular meeting of the reaptains was held at Girl Scout Headquarters last week. Lieutenants were invited to this meeting which was on camping. Mr. Liscomb Bruce, executive of the Norumbega Council Boy Scouts, gave a most interesting and instructive talk on Junior Hike Leaders. This talk is to be followed up by a week-end at Camp Mary Day under the direction of Mr. Bruce, when ideas and methods which he presented will be put into practice.

The Girl Scouts State Camp folders are out and all the Girl Scout captains have them. The Camp Mary Day folders will be ready for distribution in about a week. Every Girl Scout in the city should have the opportunity of attending a Girl Scout Camp if she desires to do so. She may get information about all camps from her captain and from Girl Scout Headquarters.

In the report given of the West Newton Get-together two weeks ago, the name of Dorothy Brackett was given as having been invested as a First Class Scout. That honor should have been given to Jane Hayden who was the first girl in Troop 25 who passed her First Class test and one of the first in any Newton junior troop to be awarded her First Class Badge.

THE CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

Live sled dogs and huskies, dogs bred in the kennels that furnished Commander Byrd with sled dogs for the Polar Expedition will be a feature, when Mrs. J. Milton Seeley, author of "Chinook and His Family" speaks at The Children's Museum of Boston next Sunday afternoon.

The Children's Museum of Boston next Sunday afternoon.

"Nook," son of Chinook, Commander Byrd's famous sled dog and a Siberian husky are two of Mrs. Seeley's interesting pets she is bringing to the Museum to illustrate her talk. Mrs. Seeley shusband is a breeder of huskies, the dogs are from the Seeley Kennels. Both Mr, and Mrs. Seeley have taken part in sled dog racing and Mrs. Seeley can talk most authoritatively on her subject. As many boys and girls hearing of this talk have signified their intention to attend and as Sunday talks at the Museum are drawing larger and larger groups, the talk will be given at three and repeated at four in the Museum lecture hall. This, like all others, is an admission-free informal lecture to which the general public is invited.

During Art Week in Boston there were two interesting showings of art work of boys and girls, one from students of Miss May's School in Boston, the other from school children in Czechoslovakia.

D. A. R.

The monthly meeting was held on Monday afternoon, March 9th, in the Chapter House. A short business meeting preceded the exhibition of antiques and handiwork. The regent, Mrs. L. H. Howe, presided and Mrs. J. W. Byers acted as recording secretary in the absence of Mrs. W. D. Thompson. The attendance of ten Italian mothers with their teacher, Mrs. Seaver, and their hostess, Mrs. W. L. Vosburgh, was a pleasant feature of the afternoon. The Endowment Fund was reported as having reached $440 and the suggestion was made that small gifts would be gladly received. The evening bridge party, Mrs. J. N. Eaton, chairman, had netted $52, the afternoon bridge given by Miss Emily Jordan and Mrs. E. B. Parker, $38. Members were reminded of the State Spring Conference, March 18 to 19, at Hotel Statler. Contributions were requested for the Rummage Sale of March 28th. Mrs.

The lesson was complete when twenty-four women and Principal Kenelm Winslowe as guest enjoyed the finished articles. All taking part appreciated the value of such a pleasant afternoon. Miss Helen Norcross, a Red Cross nurse, was among the most grateful guests.

It should not be overlooked that one of the pupils in this class has brought up her own eleven children, and seven grandchildren. She now keeps house for her family of four, and is a "schoolgirl" at the age of sixty-five.

Chicago Does Not Do This. Yes. We Are Docile. Muscle Shoals Veto. Shoup's 100 Miles for $1.

New York newspapers continue to advertise Chicago as the city of crime, although Chicago, as proved by statistics, stands far from the top as a crime center. New York's news-papers also relate the interesting story of a New York woman strangled to death after the threatened to tell about police corruption. That has not ye' happened in Chicago, where kill-ings are confined to men, and usually to thugs.

To make the death of the miserable New York woman more tragic, there comes news of her daughter's suicide. The unfortunate girl, sixteen years old, could not stand the mockery of her high school companions, and

Other nations lack the "docility" that so impressed the late Lord North-cliffe when he came here. "The American people," said he, "are very docile." He was impressed by our obedience when ordered to stop eat-ing sugar because Europe wanted it. What Northcliffe said of our people is also true of our Government, which takes orders about its navy, war gas, etc., very humbly.

Not so with Japan. The London Naval Treaty "allotted" to Japan fifty-two thousand tons of submarines. Now it develops that France is to have eighty thousand tons of sub-marines, and Japan says "Wait a minute, not so fast. We need time to think that over." Uncle Sam, like a sood tar baby, says nothing. What-ever they allot is good enough for him. He was not like that before in-ternational finance, eager to curry favor abroad, did his thinking for President Hoover has vetoed the Muscle Shoale bill and Congressmen, many of them glad to see their votes for the bill vetoed, will probably make no effort to put the bill through. The public investment of a hundred and fifty millions will continue to remain idle and wasted. Farmers could get cheap fertilizers from that plant. But that would not suit the fertilizer com-panies. Manufacturers and householders could get cheap electricity from that public investment, but that • would not suit the power companies.

And even the weanling child should know that those companies and a few others are our actual Government. That is not a complaint, only a statereacts not a complaint, only a statement of fact. It is probably desirable, on the hole, that intelligent feudal industry should govern, until the people develop signs of intelligent thinking, plus will power.

Gandhi is s'd to have agreed on a settlement with England, one that will save his face, and not worry England much. Having led his followers to the seashore to make salt, in defiance of Britain's salt monopoly, Gandhi had to get some concession. English statesmen quite solemnly say. Those who dwell at the edge of the sea may make their own salt, since God has placed them so near it. We shall make the salt for all others."

Soon even those near the sea will buy their salt, since making it is a

Paul Shoup, head of the Southern Pacific Railroad, has begun an inter-esting experiment, most important to railroad men everywhere. He sells tickets good for three days at one cent a mile, one hundred miles for gers can be hauled for one cent a mile at a profit. Perhaps they can, if there are enough of them. Subways can are enough of them. Subways can make money, if half way honestly financed, and efficiently run, at half a cent a mile. And the elevated rail-road in New York City never made to reduce its rate from ten to five

The Empress of Japan is expecting the arrival of one more little Japanese to be added to the Mikado's ninety million subjects, and nothing is more important than this birth to those ninety millions.

The Mikado, Hirohito, has three daughters, no son, and only a son can rule in Japan.

If a son is born, he will be hailed as the direct desendant of the Sun Goddess, and will be, when his father dies, the one hundred and twenty-fifth Mikado in a straight line.

That ancestry makes every other earthy lineage seem trivial. Voltaire said that the oldest title of nobility in Europe descended from a Venetian nobleman. And Venice, founded by malefactors—fleeing from the mainland—is young compared to the Mikado's line. Allowing only thirty years to each of the Imperial Japanese generations, the 125 Mikados would go back 3,750 years, back of Rome, Greece, Jerusalem, everything that we call "civilization."

His Noise Brings the Coin

Begging for the funds with which te rebuild a temple, an old Chinaman has for 23 years been traversing the streets of Peiping. As an evidence of his holy character he wears a skewer passing through his cheeks and pro-truding on either side. His method of extracting the coin is unique. He carries a huge wooden gong which is known as "Buddha's Ear," and taking up a position in front of a native home he makes a deafening noise un-til some member of the family comes out and gives him an adequate coin. If the amount meets with his approval he will move on, otherwise he remains until the sum is increased.

One horsepower is equivalent to 33,000 foot-pounds per minute. The foot-pound is the unit of work or energy and is defined as the work done in raising one pound avoirdupois the height of one foot, against the force of gravity. It was adopted by James Watt, the famous expineer, after many experiments to find the loads that as he was aware, it is in excess of the power of an average horse. It is sim-ply an arbitrary unit, equivalent to 746 watts or electrical units.

New Customer for Company
The new baby is one of the best customers of the electric company, it requires additional lighting at night, the use of, supplemental heating during the bathing hour and it causes more washing and ironing. Then there are the electric milk warmers and other equipment which add to baby's joy and comfort. Many high bill complaints have been settled to the entire satisfaction of the customer by pointing out that the increase complained about was due to the new arrival.

What?

Two persons of rather ample proportions were overheard talking on the street car. They were apparently brother and sister and when they entered the car the man immediately took the only seat, leaving the woman to stand.

"Gentlemen always tet ladies sid down!" said the woman.

"Well," reforted her companion "What's that got to do with us?"

Work Of Judge Baker Foundation Discussed At Welfare Conference

Furnishes Large Share of Leadership In International Move ment For Child-Guidance

"You and your officers are here to your duty, and I suppose you are loing to send me away, but before I, I want to tell you one thing—you on't understand me!" This was said do your duty, and I suppose you are going to send me away, but before I go, I want to tell you one thing-you don't understand me!" This was said one day long ago to Judge Humphrey Baker, who was the first judge of the Boston Juvenile Court, by a girl who was brought before him. To under-stand has become the work of the Judge Baker Foundation and now, fourteen years after its incorporation, it is still advancing along the road of understanding, and is furnishing a large share of the leadership in a na-large share of the leadership in a national and international movement. That movement goes by the general name of child-guidance.

Over forty guests were present at the luncheon Welfare Conference held under the auspices of the Newton Central Council on March the eleventh, at which the Stearns School Center were the hostesses, providing the luncheon at the rooms of the Y. M. C. A.

Every month when no other Council meeting is scheduled, social workers from all over Newton, representing the many-sided welfare service of the city, are invited by the Council to meet with others who are interested to discuss community problems. On this occasion, Mrs. Mary Lue Cochran of the Yale Institute of Human Relations, now psychiatric assistant of the Judge Baker Foundation, told something of the history of that organization and its latest developments.

Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., President of the Council, called on a representative of the Stearns School Center, Mrs. George D. Auryansen, to speak of their work. Mrs. Auryansen said that the Center was the pioneer community center in Newton, providing recreational and social interests for mothers and children in that school district. There are 13 flourishing clubs, Mrs. Auryansen said, and the boys of the school are now asking for the formation of other clubs. Members of the Mothers' Club gave their help to provide the luncheon for the Conference. After making some announcements, Mrs. Spear turned over the meeting to Mrs. Celia Wellman, probation officer of Newton. Mrs. Wellman introduced the speaker of the day, saying that the Judge Baker Foundation was indispensable in the work of the courts in Newton.

Mrs. Occhran, being "in" but not "of" the Foundation, said she could speak of its work as an unprejudiced observer. After the death of Judge Baker, formed a group to Carry on his "spiritual legacy." Dr. William Healy and Dr. Augusta F. Bronner, who were doing pioneer work in Chicago, accepted an invitation to head the new venture, and have been Directors of the Foundation ever since.

Mrs. Cochran passed around a map which showed the national and international influence of the Foundation. One hundred and thirty psychiatrists, psychologists, and social workers trained at the Foundation are now clinic leaders all over the world, notable among them being the heads of the London, Paris and Amsterdam child-guidance clinics.

The Vale Institute of Human Relations of the London of the

The Yale Institute of Human Relations which Mrs. Cochran represents, makes all kinds of studies about the causes for success or failure in family and community life. They are now causes for success or failure in family and community life. They are now making a study of the family relationships of the delinquent child,—to extend over a period of five years; cases being taken for study where there is a serious delinquent with normal brothers and sisters. Why should the brother or sister remain a well-behaved child while another member under the same conditions becomes "delinquent?" is the question they are asking and hoping in some measure to answer. One thing is certain, that no short-time treatment can furnish an answer. The habit-patterns and deep-seated attitudes must be changed, and this cannot be done in a moment, therefore the study is limited to a small number of cases and among Evaluations. small number of cases and among English-speaking parents, because it is not practical to handle such deli-cate relationships in a foreign lan-

"An ex-service man, handicapped by a war disability, was unable to return to his former work after his discharge from a hospital. The fact that he had lost his citizenship papers and his discharge certificate meant an expenditure of $11 before second papers could be given. We found, however, that evidence of the man's voting would be accepted as proof of citizenship. On inquiry we learned that he had never voted, but in 1927 he had registered in Boston. A copy of this record was secured, accepted as proof of citizenship, and through the quick working of the Veterans' Preference Act the man secured work at which he earns $32 a week.

"Sixty-three families were active Mrs. Cochran told very dramatically the story of one boy who is a subject for study and treatment. Tommy is "a boy with a perfect brother," and most of us know what that means. He had always had Peter held up to him as an example. "Why don't you sit down quietly and read like Peter?" "Why can't you get an A in your arithmetic like Peter?" and so on. He has charm, leadership, initiative, but schese qualities have had their only means of expression through his boy gangs. With all the characteristics of the "graduated gangster" Tommy is a lovable and attractive boy with strong affections and loyalties. Having been sent to a correctional school Mrs. Cochran told very dramatically "Sixty-three families were active during the year, 6 new and 4 recurring families in Needham, and 10 new and 41 recurring families in Newton. The total number of conferences, 575, exceeded last year, by? total number of conterences, 5/5, ex-ceeded last year by 2. In the num-ber of visits paid, however, there is an increase of 111 which may easily be accounted for by the larger num-ber of cases requiring more intensive work and long-time care.

Miss Esther M. Walker, executive Miss Esther M. Walker, executive secretary of the Home Service Section, Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, has completed her annual report in which is given a comprehensive picture of the admirable work performed by this excellent department of the Red Cross in Newton. Miss Walker says:

"Among these was the family of an epileptic Canadian veteran in which two wage earning members were facing unemployment. Another was that of a veteran's mother, practically a cripple from arthritis and in need of long and continued treatment at a hospital clinic. Many calls were paid in Needham and Newton Upper Falls in an effort to locate three Russians from whom relatives had not heard for years.

Richard Beyer, 15, of 716 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre, a student at Newton High, left his home on Monday, carrying suit case and clothing. When the boy did not return the police were notified, and his father made inquiries at Boston steamship offices which caused him to believe that the boy was headed for Yarmouth, Nova Scotia. This hunch was correct and Richard was met at the wharf at Yarmouth by officials who ordered his return home on the same boat.

The granting of this compensation has, I think, done as much for the veteran as hospital care and medical treatment. The $1650 appropriated for work for unemployed on playgrounds will give work to 24 men for 13 days. The additional cost on the Edmands I Valley sewer project was occasioned by an unexpected amount of muck which had to be removed and a large quantity of lumber which had to be purchased to form side walls for the sewer trench and left standing to protect the sewer.

MANY INFIELDERS

For the past several days Coach John L. Sullivan of the Newton high school baseball team has been devoting part of his attention to a large group of infielders who are competing for positions on the 1931 nine. These candidates have been loosening up their arms by scooping up a grounders and throwing the ball to the first base candidates in the old gymnasium of the high school with the school of the Newton Indiana the school of the s their arms by scooping up a grounders and throwing the ball to the first base candidates in the old gymnasium at the high school. Within a week or two the Newton coach hopes to get his squad out of doors in order that he may get a line on what these same lads can do on the playing diamond and at bat. At present not one of the infield positions are clinched by any one candidate. In fact the two veteran infielders, Charles Butler at first and Warren Colby at second, may find themselves pressed in the battle to retain their last year's berths. Bill Terry, who cavorted around the initial sack for the Newton Upper Falls Hub twi-league champions last year, is among a half dozen candidates for the first base position. It is said that Terry can hit and if such is the case the Newton mentor may find an outfield berth more suited to the youngster as Butler's reach is a decided asset and at the close of last season developed into a timely hitter. No division has been made of the other infield candidates as yet as there is not enough space in the old drill hall to lay out a regulation diamond.

Meanwhile the pitchers have been

Cronin May Be Third String

Bill Cronin of West Newton may be the third string catcher of the Braves this season if reports from the south are correct. The Boston Traveler correspondent, speaking of Manager McKechnie's work with the catchers, says that the latter has spent much time with Al Bool and has every confidence that he will make a good second string catcher with Al Spohrer No. 1 and Cronin No. 3. Speaking of Cronin the sports writer says that the Newton youth's spring work has been impressively good and he is in remarkably good physical condition. His throwing, receiving and deadly work with foul flies are good. His hitting is fair, much better than some of the other regulars. The Braves manager intimates that Cronin is slated to start as third string receiver yet he makes the reservation that Bill has only to show scant improvement here and there to be moved up a notch. Cronin has two of the prize requisites of a truly great catcher, courage and a clear head under all conditions. If he were slightly faster he would be among the best.

GALLAGHER IS UNANIMOUS CHOICE

BEST SEASON IN PAST SIX YEARS PAST SIX YEARS

Newton High closed the 1931 indoor track season recently with the best record it has made in the past six years under the direction of Coach Donald Enoch. The recent season was also the most successful in the history of the sport at the local school. Although defeated in its opening meet by an alumni aggregation of college performers, 26 to 51, the orange and black athletes went through a season of four dual schoolboy meets without defeat. This string of victories included a fourth consecutive win over Medford High and a third consecutive win over Brookline High. Incidentally this year Newton totalled over a hundred points in the two meetings with Brookline for the first time since the two schools have been meeting in a two-meet, home and home series in six years. Brookline has won twice and Newton four times. Breaking this meet into halves each year Newton has won seven and tied one and lost but four.

With the single exception of the Charlie Gallagher, star forward o he Our Lady High basketball team, was the sole unanimous choice for a position on an all-league composite team chosen by the coaches of the eight teams in the circuit and announced by Rev. Fr. Bernard O'Kane, president of the Catholic High School league. Gallagher, who lead the league as high scorer, received seven votes, no coach being permitted to select his own players. Others selected for the first team were Everett Gallant, St. Charles of Waltham, as forward mate with Gallagher; Robert Duffy, St. Charles centre; Herbert Morris, Cathedral High, right guard; and Leo Cannon, Our Lady High, left guard. Duffy captained the championship St. Charles outfit and Cannon led the Our Lady high five which ended in the tie for the unner-up position with Cathera the champions with Cathera the contraction of the contraction o vas the sole unanimous choice for a for the runner-up position with Cathedral high. Our Lady high choices for econd team positions, although honor ble mention was given them as in sufficient votes were received to win them positions, were Grella, guard, one vote, Morin, centre, one vote and in a close meet. Against strictly high school competition Coach Enoch's squad has not lost a dual meet since the first meet with Brookline in 1928 when the Wealthy Towners won, 42 to 35. The second half of this meet was a 36 to 36 tie, giving Brookline a 78 to 71 yictory. vote, Morin, centre, one vote.

and Carl Pescosolido in the dash. Throughout the season Ewing and Pesky finished one, two in the dual meet dashes, with Pesky getting two verdicts over Ewing. In the interscholastic meets Ewing won at Northeastern, the B. A. A and the State meet. At Andover the verdict went to Johnny Hayes of Somerville. Throughout the season Newton's weakness was in the high jump. Reynolds, Fine and Carter took care of the hurdles, Ewing Mullen and Quigley the 300, Reynolds and Gibbs the 600, Burton, Hall. Chamberlain and Vincent Signore the 1000. Finn and Fine the broad jump and Pesky and Ham the shotput. Ewing and Pesky started the orange and black off in fine style at the Northeastern meet by placing one, two for eight points. Reynolds won the 600 and took third in a blanket finish in the hurdles for a total of six points more. Meanwhile Coach Enoch had withheld Ewing from the 300 in order to save him for the relay and this strategy resulted in the third best relay time for 21-2 points and the meet. At the B. A. A. the Newton team was the second highest of the high schools entered with Medford topping them for second place. Worcester Academy won, with Huntington third. Newton's points were scored by Ewing with a first in the dash, Mullen's third in the 300 and the third best relay time for four points more—a total of ten. At Andover, Newton was topped only by Brookline. The local school's points were hung up by Ewing, second in the dash, Reynolds, second in the dash, Reynolds, second best relay time for 41-2 points.

At the State meet the Newton relay quartet of Ewing, Reynolds, Pearson and Kilburn Adams hung, up a new to 35. The second half of this meet was a 36 to 36 tie, giving Brookline a 78 to 71 victory.

Coach Enoch Joined the mathematics department of the Newton school in September of 1925 and the ensuing winter was assistant to the late Allie Dickinson. That year the schoolboys swamped the alumni, lost both halves of the meet to Brookline, won from Brighton and lost by one point to Lawrence High. The team that year was captained by John Buswell who competed in the dash with Sam Moore and in the 300 with Wally Fullerton and Benger. Fullerton was the hurdler. Stuart and McCnudden in the 1000, Seeley and McCrudden in the 1000, Seeley and McCrudden in the 1000, Cunniff and Macy in the shot. Hammond and Ebelhare in the high jump and Hammond and Moore in the broad jump. Fullerton was the versatile performer that year with a high mark of four firsts in the dash, hurdles, 300 and broad jump against Lawrence, although Newton lost by one point. The relay team that year took one point at the State meet to place 10th. Ebelhare took a second at the B. A. A. meet.

For the winter of 1927 Enoch was named head coach with Dickinson acting as advisor until his unexpected death in February. Enoch took up the reins and in the same quiet fashion has endeared hims fin the hearts of Vincent Signore was fourth in the 1000 and the relay team made the fifth best time.

The season just closed surpassed any previous track record turned out by Coach Enoch's athletes. As mentioned, it took an all-star group of alumni to turn the tables at the opening of the season. Captain Milton Green's well-balanced outfit then got under way to topple Medford, Watertown, Country Day and Brookline in both meets by one-sided scores. In all meets but one Newton scored more than 50 points or better than two-thirds of all points scored. Turning to the interscholastic season Newton captured the Northeastern meet, making it two wins each for Medford and Newton in the four-year history of the affair. Green took a first in the hurdles and tied for second in the high jump. Holmes took second in the high jump. Holmes took second in the dash. Lamb second in the 1000, Colligen third in the shotput and the relay team tied for second best time for 2-3-4 points to total 18-1-4 points. In the B. A. A. meet it took an unfortunate mix-up in the relay to deprive the orange and black of its rightful honors. Junior Trio was given a veritable ovation.

Mrs. Ely, who gave the address of the afternoon, commented with enthusiasm on the talent and accomplishment of these young players, and spoke words of encouragement, as did many of the audience. The great enthusiasm shown was very inspiring to the Trio, and should be very gratifying to the School.

The Trio, trained by Miss Mary Pucciarelli of the Violin Department, is composed of: Frances Jennings, plano (pupil of Mrs. Helen Sartwell Hull); Mary Curran, violin (pupil of Miss Pucciarelli; and Norma Oleson, 'cello, pupil of Miss Ruth Masters.

They are very promising young students whose progress may be watched with much interest. The Trio shows most excellent training in ensemble, and real musical accomplishment.

The numbers given were "David of the White Rock" (Old Welsh air) and Gavotte by Beethoven, for the Trio, Norma Oleson brought much pleasure by her playing of Danse Orientale by Squiers, and a Menuet of Haydn. Telephone Newton North 4846 Subscribe to the Graphic

ALLEGED CHURCH THIEVES CAUGHT

Last Saturday morning Waltham police arrested Felix Gumbert, 16, of 20 Lawton place, Waltham. Among the loot found in Gumbert's room were articles contained in some of the pocketbooks stolen recently from Newton churches. Also found there was a compact, the property of Mrs. Sarah Perrine of 84 Valentine street, West Newton whose handbag was snatched from her on the night of February 28th as she was walking near her home. Among the loot was a ring inscribed "Walter and Elsie."

Following Gumbert's arrest Inspector Duffy of Waltham and Patrolman J. F. O'Donnell of Newton arrested William Marshall, 16, of Calvary street, Waltham as an accomplice of Gumbert. On Tuesday Inspector King and Special Officers Feeley and Mullen of the Newton police, who had been investigating the cases, arrested Joseph McGonagle, 15, of 20 Hall place, Waltham. To these officers Gumbert and McGonagle admitted having stolen pocketbooks from the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville on January 20; the Methodist Episcopal Church at Newtonville on February 8; the Auburndale Congregational Church at Newton on March I. Marshall admitted having been with the other two when they went to the Channing Church at Newton on March I. Marshall admitted having outside. He also admitted being with Gumbert and McGonagle on the night the latter snatched the handbag from Mrs. Perrine. The three will be tried in the Newton court today.

Gumbert was in the Waltham court on Wednesday charged with offences in that city. He was sentenced to the Concord Reformatory and appealed. The Newton police then arrested him. He had served time at the Lyman Reform School. Marshall was arrested also by the Watertown police on Tuesday charged with larrested him. He had served time at the Lyman Reform School. DRIVERS-PAY ATTENTION TO THE ROAD

Many popular beliefs are shattered by a recent announcethe Governor's committee on street and highway Out of the 795 fatalities in Massachusetts last year only thirty-five were caused by drunken drivers while more than five times that number occurred because the attention of a perfectly sober operator was diverted to something of a perfectly sober operator was diverted to something other than driving. Absent-mindedness precipitated another 35 and timid drivers becoming confused in traffic were responsible for 36 more. While the drunken driver is a constant menace the inattentive driver is even more so. The argument that irresponsible youth with the modern urge for speed is a big factor is refuted through statistics that reveal that twice as many paragraph to the speed is a big factor. speed is a big factor is refuted through statistics that reveal that twice as many persons between 25 and 54 were mixed up in fatal crashes as were drivers under 24 years old. There were 547 drivers in the older group, 238 between 18 and 24 and 48 under 18 involved in death producing accidents. Another popular belief is shattered with the discovery that the greatest number of fatal accidents last year were caused by drivers with more than five years' experience. The number is almost double that of those who had been driving from one to five years, three times the class between six months and a year and more than double that of six months and under. The reason' behind this latter fact is probably due to the longer one drives the greater speed employed and the less attention given to the road. While the safety of everyone may be increased through the curbing of drunken driving and youthful irresponsibility we must not of drunken driving and youthful irresponsibility we must not lose sight of the fact that every automobile driver bears a share in the responsibility. Do not let your attention be diverted from the road—that instant may have fatal results.

PREVENTING ACCIDENTS

With the coming of better weather we are glad to note the reappearance of the white guide lines for parking and the red curb lines designating "no parking." There are several places where there have been no lines in the past which might well be marked as further aids to the reduction of danger hazards. There are two particularly hazardous points near Newton Corner to which attention should be given. Doubtless there are others throughout the city. One of the places we have in mind is at the south eastern corner of Centre and we have in mind is at the south eastern corner of Centre and Elmwood streets. The absence of a red curb line here induces automobile drivers to park so close to the corner that the view either way is almost entirely obstructed. The southern end of the railfoad bridge at Richardson street is anothern the places. other point where the danger would be greatly reduced by painting a white line in the centre of the street. Many drivers making a left turn down Richardson street as they cross the bridge cling to the left hand side of the road. More than one near collision has been noted there.

We have heard of mail men and coats of mail but who knows what a "mail" dog is?

The pussy willows are coming out, but we have not heard of the first robin yet. Spring is here.

Facts About Newton

The new street developed by Arnold Hartmann at Oak Hill, Bald Pate Hill road, brings one to the highest spot in the city. The summit of this hill is 31s feet above sea level and a beautiful view of the Charles River Valley towards Dedham, West Roxbury and Needham is afforded from it. But, as this hill rises gradually from the plateau on Newton's South side, it does not give anything like the vista which is seen from the summit of the city's second highest point. Waban Hill, 31s feet high and the site of the creates are a wonderful panoramic view of Boston and many of its suburbs as well as distant places to the south, west and north. Mount Wachnett, Mount Monatonek, and the south, west and north. Mount Wachnett, Mount Monatonek, and the sum plainly visible from Waban Hill. A couple of years ago some residents on Waban Hill, a couple of years ago some residents on Waban Hill, a couple of the petiting parties which frequented this hill nightly in automobiles, spread a large quantity of broken glass on the road leading to the summit and ruined three on the cars of perfectly proper people who drove up to this hill daytimes.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

All the talk of the Massachusetts Legislature "going wet" has dwindled to one measure passed by the Senate and calling upon Congress to order constitutional conventions in each State to amend or repeal the 18th amendment or itself initiate action.
A loud noise was made when the House passed a bill declaring that beverages shall not be declared intoxicating in Massachusetts unless they contain at least 4½ percent alcohol.
Prior to the action of the House the Senate had accepted an adverse committee report on the very same bill.
But notwithstanding the known attitude of the Senate the House put the bill over by substituting it for an adverse committee report. When the question came before the Senate of concurring in substitution there was an obstacle that could not be overcome. By rolicall 19 to 11, the Senate rejected the bill. Senator Hollis voted for rejection. The Senate also refused to concur with the House in adopting a resolution memorializing
Congress to end the National control of the manufacture and sale of liquor.
So, the sum total of "wet" legislation of this year's General Court is not as great as might seem at first glance.
The Committee on Election Laws has voted to report the bill of Senator James G, Moran of Mansfeld for legislation to repeal the law under which a candidate for Presidential delegate may not express his preference for a candidate for the Presidential nomination unless the latter files written assent.

The number of public hearings be-tion unless the latter files written assent.

The number of public hearings before committees is becoming smaller and only a few remain to be called. The committee have had the biggest grist of bills in 15 years and have worked constantly to handle all matters as expeditiously as possible.

Next Tuesday morning the special committee of the two branches appointed to redistrict the Congressional districts of the State will begin public hearings at the State House. The task before the committee is to change the State from 16 Congressional districts to 15. At next Tuesday's hearing all the Congressmen of the State are expected to attend.

One of those bills which nobody appeared to favor or oppose, a situation that sometimes arises, was the bill providing for the licensing of bicycles by local police authorities and the issuance of registration plates. The Committee on Highways and Motor Vehicles reported recommending "leave to withdraw" and the report was accepted.

Apparently double-header baseball games on Sunday afternoons appeal to a majority of the members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives. The House has substituted for an adverse report of the Committee on Legal Affairs a bill changing the hours on Sunday afternoon during which outdoor sports may be played. The present law permits games between 2 and 6 p. m. The substituted bill as amended has some distance to go before becoming law. It makes the hours from 1:30 to 6:30 p. m. The man who proposed substitution told of one of the big games of last season having to be called because 6 o'clock had arrived and with it the legal limit. Because of that, said he, the visiting team would play no more double-headers in Boston. He appealed to the House, with great fervor, to amend the Sunday law so that we may be sure of double-headers. The House, by rollcall, 130 to 90, voted to substitute the bill. Representatives Baker, Luitwieler and Thompson voted against substitution.

The House gave some little time to a bill to permit the city of Lovell. Apparently double-header baseball sentatives Baker. Luitwieler and Thompson voted for the measure.

Senator Hollis was recorded against the bill to further regulate the employment of women and minors in tanneries. One of the provisions of the bill was to prohibit night work by women and minors.

Mayor Weeks made his first appearance this session of the Legislature before a committee when he appeared Tuesday before House Ways and Means on the bill to increase the poll tax on men from $2 to $3 and to establish a poll tax on women of $2.

Mayor Weeks was interested in the provision of the bill requiring cities and towns to turn over to the State the money thus collected. He told of the difficulty a city experiences in collecting poll taxes, the cost involved, etc. Because of this situation, said if the bill was passed, should be kept for their trouble and expense and because of the additional burden imposed upon welfare departments of the needy.

Both branches have accepted adverse committee reports on a number which rises precipitously from the Boston & Albany railroad tracks at Newton is one of the most conspicutions on the city. The familiar contour of its steep north slope was radically changed the past year by a large fill made on land of a person who planned to develop his property. This fill, made without the approval of the City Engineer or Planning Board, looms up like a mine culm heap and has caused owners of property abutting Bellevue street, below it, to warn the person responsible for the fill that they will hold him fersponsible if further dumping of material causes damage to their properties.

WANTS BELLS RUNG

The following open letter to the Mayor and Aldermen of Newton was sent to the GRAPHIC with the request that it be published. (Ed.)

that it be published. (Ed.)

The Mayor and Aldermen or other City Officials who may be responsible for the cessation of the ringing of the Bells on our National Holidays.

Gentlemen:
Is it not the relative importance of things which you should decide?
On the one hand: Shall you disturb the slumber of those who are still steeping mainly because of going to bed late the night before, or on the other hand:

Will you consider, as of greater importance, those, young and old, who receive an influence from the Bells which induces or may Induce a mental condition that is highly desirable?

It surely calls attention to the significance of the arwitzers of the arwitzers of the arwitzers of the armitagent of the armitagen of the armitagen are operating against our country.

Will you consider, as of greater importance, those, young and old, who receive an influence from the Bells i which induces or may induce a mental condition that is highly desirable? It surely calls attention to the significance of the anniversary. It is likely to stimulate a thoughtful consideration of the underlying reasons for the observance of these holidays and so to thoughts of the great deeds of the Fathers of our Country. And who can tell, perhaps to a greater interest in the present duties of all of us, to preserve and increase the benefits, or to struggle against mallgn influences which may be operating and are operating against the welfare of our country.

Speaking for myself, and I dare say, for others,
I have always liked to hear the Bells and hope the custom of ringing them will be renewed.

Respectfully,
FRANK M. S. SHERMAN.
1 Fairview Terrace, West Newton.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

A physician at Lowell testified that a man should not have received damages for the loss of one of his small toes, because (according to the physician) "small toes are useless". Is that so? How would you like to have hard corns on the outside of the larger toes that are next to your little toes? And if we did not have little toes wouldn't we have funny shaped feet and wouldn't we be apt to walk lopsided?

Residents of the Newtons hope that the Street Department will, as soon as possible, remove the 12,000 tons of sand which were spread during the winter on our streets and sidewalks, mostly on our streets. This sand has been blown all too profusely during the windy March days into houses. Also, the profusion of sand on the sidewalks, according to complaints received by the GRAPHIC, gets into persons' shoes, damaging socks and soiling feet.

Newspaper writers, in general, do not use the care in scrutinizing their work that real "literary" persons practice. The ordinary "garden variety" of newspaper reporters, small time columnists and the like, dash off their contributions and do not even bother to edit them. So, it must be expected that errors will occur in articles emanating from the typewriters of newspaper men. But, don't blame us for all the errors. Some of them are made by "Larry, the Linotyper" and Protagoras the proofreader. Sometimes these gentlemen do not make typographical errors, but in well intentioned efforts to correct what they deem errors on our part, make changes which produce somewhat confused results. For instance—two weeks ago an item in this column told of sympathetic persons having too much solitude for murderers. We had written solicitude. Last week in an item referring to Gen. Pershing was the remark "Listen to the bologna." We had written this "Listen to the boloney."

had written this "Listen to the boloney."

Former Governor Alvan T. Fuller spoke quite positively in denouncing the proposals of Governor Ely and Mayor Curley to increase the gasoline tax to 4c per gallon and the State Income tax 10%. Many persons will agree with Mr. Fuller and many will disagree with Mr. Fuller and many will disagrees with him. The writer agrees with him in other respects. Men holding high political offices should go very slowly in placing additional tax burden onto people. Governor Ely's predecessors in office have endeavored (and succeeded) in reducing the expense of conducting the activities of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. But, new responsibilities have been placed on this State and they must be met. The matter of financing the "Old Age Pension" is a serious problem which faces Governor Ely. Money for this purpose—must be raised through some form of taxation and each method proposed meets with opposition from those who would have to stand the gaff. No fair minded person will deny that changed economic conditions make assistance for elderly men and women necessary. Some persons, including the flamboyant State Senator from down towards Cape Cod deprecate old age pensions. But, with our modern high-pressure production systems, guided by materialistic "efficiency" engineers, men and women of middle age and older cannot find employment, and such men and women who have worked industriously and have been unable to save, should not be consigned to pauper institutions, even though such institutions are now designated by more kindly names.

Ex-Governor Fuller is a very successful man. By ability and shrewddesignated by more kindly names.

Ex-Governor Fuller is a very successful man. By ability and shrewdness he amassed a large fortune quite early in life. And as Julius Rosenwald avers, Mr. Fuller can thank his good lick to a large degree in the acquirement of his millions. He was fortunate to happen into the distributing agency of one of America's most successful automobiles. He got into this game when the getting was good. He does not bear the reputation of having been unduly prodigal in the treatment of his workers. At least he has not impoverished himself by paying his employees exorbitant wages. In this respect he has been perhaps about as good as the average big employer. He has not displayed a tendency of allowing his emotions to cause him to become very altruistic.

become very altruistic.

Nevertheless, Mr. Fuller is quite correct when he says, "It is as useless for us by dipping into the treasury here and there for the benefit of this class or that to cure the world-wide financial depression, as it was for Mrs. Partington to undertake with her broom to sweep back the Atlantic vocean."

class or that to cure the world-wide financial depression, as it was for Mrs. Partington to undertake with her broom to sweep back the Atlantic ocean."

There are many who agree with Mr. Fuller in his views on the payment of the soldiers' adjusted compensation, or "bonus" as he terms it. As he says, a large percentage of those who will receive 50% of the compensation are young men under 40 years of age. With conditions such as they are, it seems a rather inopportune time to pay large sums of money to young men who are prosperous and who do not need aid. But, former service men who are in need cannot be blamed for asking reflect in the form of part payment on their adjusted compensation. It is a need cannot be blamed for asking reflect in the form of part payment on their adjusted compensation. It is a need cannot be blamed for asking reflect in the form of part payment on their adjusted compensation. World Famous OMMANDER with free wheeling.

EVEN without Free Wheeling, Studebaker's world famous Commander Eight would still be the biggest value for the money in America.

The Commander is a car of generous wheelbase—124 inches -a comfort further enhanced by Studebaker's famous ball bearing spring suspension.

The Commander engine develops 101 certified horsepower the greatest power per cubic inch, with two exceptions, to be found in any American motor car. The two exceptions are the engines of cars costing, roughly, $1000 and $3000 more than

Free Wheeling with positive gear control, as introduced by Studebaker and adopted, unchanged, by Pierce-Arrow and Lincoln, gives you silent gear shifting at all speeds-freedom from clutch-pushing-12 to 20 per cent proved gasoline and oil saving-incomparably restful, zestful motoring-and the added safety attested by public traffic officials from coast to coast.

One drive will convince you there is no value comparable to this seasoned Eight by Studebaker, Pioneer and Pacemaker. May we place a Commander Eight at your disposal?

Tuesday, March 10, was Newton day in the halls of the General Court on Beacon Hill. Under the leadership of Mrs. Arthur W. Desoe, chairman of Legislation, fifty Club women, members of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, gathered in the Hall of Flags, State House, at 1:30 p. m., where they were received by Senator Arthur W. Hollis of Newton. The group made a tour of the State House being shown the original charter of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, each woman receiving a photographic copy of the same, a worthwhile souvenir of the day. The library was visited where the History of the Plymouth Colony written by Governor Bradford was to be seen.

The Senate reception room was thrown open to the visitors and much interest was shown in the unique exhibits of the Revolutionary, Mexican, and Civil Wars on display there.

Both branches of the Legislature were visited, after which a brief reception room, when the president of the Senate, Hon, Gaspar G. Bacon was presented to the visitors from Newton.

LITERATURE AND DRAMA CONFERENCE. Clubwomen are looking forward to the Conference planned for the 31st, by the State Literature and Drama chairman, Miss Phoebe Lee Hosmer. Besides speakers on practical sides of these topics, whose experience and knowledge will cause them to speak with authority, there are scheduled many entertaining features that are sure to be most delightful. Newton women will be especially interested to learn that Pitt Parker, who has given so many fascinating demonstrations of his skill as a cartoonist before Newton audiences, is to talk on "Characterization Illustrated," his topic of characterization to be illustrated as only he can do it by drawing as he talks. Miss Marie Ware Laughton, whose ability in the shortplay field has been of such assistance to Clubs putting on an afternoon's amateur production, will speak on "Planning the Stage Business." The subject promises many valuable hints to all interested in play producing or writing. Possibly illustrative of her prosints, or perhaps only for entertaining purposes, there is planned the presentation of a one-act play. On the more practical side, although Miss Laughton's holds both practical and imaginative, "Scenic Effects with Light" will be discussed by Elmer Hall.

The Auditorium of the popular Pioneer, Y. W. C. A., in Boston, located centrally at Clarendon and Stuart streets, is the place of meeting from at 12:30 o'clock, for which tickets at $1.15 may be obtained from the vice-chairman of the Literature Division. FAMILY pictures include the following:

"Cimarron," which is recommended most highly, is "outstanding"; portrays the settlement of the vast Oklahoma country. "Rango" also "outstanding," is a travel picture of thrilling adventure in Sumatra jungles. One picture is given as "very good"—"Going Wild," an uproariously amusing picture of a newspaper man who is mistaken for a noted World War aviator. "Seas Beneath," is interesting entertainment for the whole family; a story of submarine warfare, with a United States naval officer falling in love with a beautiful German spy. "Fighting Caravans," a stirring western drama from Zane Grey's novel, with action, humor, romance, is excellent entertainment, "The Royal Bed," a charming comedy of domestic and political life of a royal family in a mythical northern kingdom. "The Royal Family of Broadway," a high comedy of three generations of stage folk, exceptional in acting and direction, and of high entertainment value.

The Boston Mutual Life Insurance Company had premium income of $3,017,379 and investment income of $539,876 in 1930. It closed the year with an increase in net surplus and a substantial gain in assets and in outstanding insurance. This sound and progressive growth, which included a successful year in every department, is noteworthy because for business in general, 1930 was a year of depression.

The company's present statement.

The company's present statement, for the year ending December 31, 1930, is its 31st annual report. It includes a summary of the progress made in 25 years since 1905. Admitted assets in 1905 were $387,979, while at the close of 1930 they were $10,876,267. The company's net surplus at the end of 1905 was only $35,571, but at the end of 1905 was only $35,571, but at the end of 1930 was $579,209. The insurance in force, twenty-five years ago, was $9,204,978; at the close of 1930, the insurance in force was $68,-336,292.

The mortality record of the company has been good. It has enjoyed an exceptionally good experience in the matter of death claims from suicide, its losses from that source in 1930 amounting to only one per cent of the whole number of losses. Its investments are confined almost exclusively to first mortgages on real estate, to high-grade bonds and loans secured by its own policies. From these assets, an average return of 5.83 per cent was obtained in 1930, a very satisfactory return indeed, considering the extent to which low interest rates prevailed in 1930.

The company has a field force of over 550 and transacts business in Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire and Rhode Island.

ANNOUNCES SOUTH AMERICAN TOUR

Undoubtedly a majority of people would scoff at the idea of a tour to South America in the summer, and yet a little investigation proves that it is the ideal time of the year to travel in that continent. As the seasons are reversed, it is winter in South America when it is summer here, and winter in South America doesn't mean what it does in New England by any means. The temperature will average close to 60 degrees. It will not go over 70 degrees or under 50 degrees, and there is no rain. It is the height of the social season in the cities, thus giving visitors an opportunity to view and enjoy the gay and fascinating life in these areas.

It remained for the Walter H. Woods Co. of Roston to take a divi.

At the regular meeting of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands held on Tuesday, March 17, Mrs. Arthur G. Sawyer gave a brief resume of the Youth Conference held in Boston, March 11 and 12, at which time the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands had the largest registration of any Club in the State. It was announced that an open forum for the discussion of the Conference, and also for the lectures which have been given under the auspices of the Education and American Home committees, will be American Home committees, will be held in the Workshop on March 27 at 2:30. Tea will be served and an informal social hour enjoyed.

A group of songs was delightfully rendered by the Club Chorus under the direction of Mrs. Thomas D. Ginn. It was announced that a new series of rehearsals will now begin in preparation for the Annual Meeting of the State Federation which will be held in Swampscott. Mrs. Raymond A. Simonds, chairman of the Music committee, will gladly receive the names of members who would like to sing in the chorus.

Success in dollars and cents is not the only achievement, for obligations come in proportion to the income, but the sense of conquest, the battle well won, the inward feeling of power are also rewards. One of the rallacies of the present day, she said is that women will find self-expression when they go into business. The fact is that the opportunity for greatest success lies in the home, where women are gravely responsible as an inspiration to husband and children. Mrs. MacDougall was introduced to the Club by Mrs. Arthur G. Sawyer, chairman of the American Home committee, who had charge of the program of the afternoon. It was the second anniversary of this company's removal to its new quarters, and, while refreshments were being enjoyed by all, Mr. Ralph F. Barber, Treasurer of the company, presented purses of gold and monogrammed bags to the two employees of longest standing, namely—Alvah P. Chandler, who started with the firm in its beginning in 1888, and John R. Hope, who joined them in 1891. These two men together make a total of 83 years of loyal service—a record worthy of mention. To Kill or Not to Kill. Paderewski Still Practices. Another Girl. The Silver Problem.

While Governor Brucker signs a bill to re-establish capital punishment in Michigan, California discusses, and will adopt, it is hoped, a bill abolish-ing capital punishment.

The State cannot discourage murder imitating murderers, killing as they kill.

Instead of death the extreme pen-alty should be life imprisonment; and it should mean life imprisonment, with eight hours for work, eight hours for sleep, eight hours for regret and re-flection.

Two criminals recently received sentences aggregating more than two hundred years, and it was announced officially that they would actually stay in jail about fourteen years. That makes a joke of justice.

The one "secret of success" is work.

Paderewski, in his private car on a sidetrack in Los Angeles, amazed railroad workers by practicing for hours on the plano that he carries with him. One worker remarked:

| BaNK. Mortgagee. For further particulars, apply either to the Carpenter. Nay & Calger, attorneys for the mortgagee, 73 on the plano that he carries with him.

"They say he's the best piano player the world, and listen to him, still

That is one reason why he is the best player in the world. The other reason is his possession of genius. But even genius, without work, as proved by the careers of many brilliant men born rich, is genius wasted.

It is a comfort to have rich relatives even when you feel poor, and the na-tion's Uncle Sam is rich. He has in solid gold four billion, five hundred and ninety million dollars, within one hundred millions of the greatest amount he ever had.

With such a gold supply it is hard to understand why such a fuss should be made about the soldiers' bonus. But everything about finance is hard to understand.

After all the praying of ninety million Japanese, fervent supplications and invocations of numerous kinds of priests that guide the Japanese conscience, the Empress of Japan gives birth to a little girl—her fourth. And having traveled far and wide by steamer and airplane, will open the British Trade Exposition in Buenos Aires. The trouble with British and other trade is a silver trouble.

There is not enough gold in the world to carry on its commerce, now that silver, used side by side with gold for thousands of years, the only money available for more than half of the world's population, has been cut down in value two-thirds

That situation will have to be changed before world-wide prosperity can be restored.

Cotton growers need not wonder at the persistent low price of their prod-. Cotton in the past, as Dr. I. D. uct. Cotton in the past, as Dr. I. D. Carpenter, of St. Paul, points out, has been sold in great quantities to the "tropical climates of China, India, Asia, Mexico, Central and South America." The silver money of these countries is almost worthless, and they cannot pay former prices.

Our high financial intelligence will have to do something about the silver question, or we shall find ourselves, like the dragon Fafner, sitting on our pile of gold, four and one-half billions of it, with no customers to buy from us.

Monte Carlo's gambling institution Monte Carlo's gambling institution has been robbed by gamblers clever enough to bribe the right men and mark the cards with chemicals, markings visible only to those wearing glasses with a certain tint.

It is difficult to feel sad about that, although millions of francs are said to have been solen by the ingenious swindlers.

On a previous occasion, the gambling casino was robbed by gentlemen "pinched" the roulette wheels making certain numbers a little wide to receive the whirling ball.

Sheridan's twenty mile ride was a fine performance, so was Paul Revere's, although some say it never happened quite that way. The gentleman who carried the news from "Ghent to Aix" was invented by the poet, and the Greek runner who dropped dead as he told of the great disaster is legendary.

But there is nothing uncertain about Joe Crosson's flight from Fairbanks to Polnt Barrow in Alaska over mountains swept by raging storms.

He carried no news of battle, but took 250,000 units of diphtheria antitoxin to the Presbyterian Mission Hospital at Point Earrow, to save lives threatened by a diphtheria plague.

That ride over mountains, through clouds and the storm, will compare with any in history. The American Airways Corporation is to be congratulated on supplying the plane.

In a few days the Prince of Wales, having traveled far and wide by steamer and airplane, will open the British Trade Exposition in Buenos Aires. The trouble with Britsia nad other trade is a silver trouble.

with the March weather in Newton.

How are you as a handwriting expert? I do not mean the study of chirography as employed in the detection of criminals, forgers and others who live by their wits. That work is a profession and judging from the number of those who appear to testify in court cases it must be profitable. I, for one, do not begrudge a professional handwriting expert the largest fee obtainable. I'll tell you why, Personally, I have been obliged to try and decipher, with more or less success volumes after volumes of other people's writing in pen and ink. I have gone into hysterics over hieroglyphics and still continue to do so when I find I cannot avoid studying communications made up of hentracks.

It doesn't seem to me that it makes glyphics and still continue to do so when I find I cannot avoid studying communications made up of hentracks.

It doesn't seem to me that it makes any difference whether it is the Spencerian or the back-hand method that is employed. Some people make legible characters while others just write and let the ink fall where it may. The latter constitute the majority, if you ask anyone like myself who has been forced to "try to make out" this, that or the other long, drawn-out document. At first I used to despair, but now I have made myself believe that I am enjoying such a task as much as a crossword puzzle. And if you will accept a suggestion from me there is no better way. You acan make it a sort of game. For instance, when you encounter a letter by some one of the most impossible writers among your friends try this system; Select the words that you do recognize and put them down, leaving spaces for those which stagger you. After you have scanned a sentence with several missing words you can begin to make some kind of sense, or at least, with this or that word supplied, you get some notion of that the writer may have intended to say. A missing-word puzzle, that's what it becomes and not as sad an occupation as it might seem.

I know of a man who is the head of a large mercantile establishment and who okays orders and thirgs by writing his initials on the corner. He is satisfied that his initials thus scribbled are legible. Maybe they are, but only to those familiar with them. I recall that this merchant prince wrote his initials on a letter. A joke-ster in the office carefully cut off the lower part of the letter so that it contained only his employer's initials. Then the jokester walked over to the cashier thought he saw figures with a dollar sign before them. That sounds a bit far-fetched, I know, but if I hadn't been a witness I would not dare repeat it.

I am sure that everybody knows how terribly some people can write no matter how fine and freely-flowing their fountain pen may happen to be. Well, all I can sa

Another "It happened in Newton" story. Father was a bit mid-Victorian but terribly useful in times of stress. The house was big enough for a dancing party, with a small orchestra, and Daughter decided to give one. Father said he would gladly foot the bills. There was to be a jazz band of three pieces. The young men guests included three undergraduates who belonged to the most exclusive clubs open to college students.

One of the musicians sent his instrument ahead. It was one of those long silver polished things that look like a Hollander's pipe of heroic size. You know, the kind they use to accompany this crooning stuff. Father, always on the job, took charge of it, remembered the message that came with it and promised to deliver it to the player.

The three undergraduate guests, dolled up to the limit, arrived together. They represented the cream of the invitation list. But to Fatherwell, you know what fathers are. Father received them. As a business man he lost no time to getting down to brass tacks. "Say," said he, addressing Daughter's high-society friends, "which one of you birds is the saxophone player?"

Joseph Joyce of 14 Thornton place, Newton, has been retired on a pension, which will amount annually to $899.07. He has been the driver of a truck in the Street Department and had been in the employ of the city 25 years. Being only 64 years of age he would, ordinarily not have been eligible for a pension until next year, but he was retired because of disability. Some years ago while Mr. Joyce was unloading ties off a truck, some fell on him and broke some of his ribs. The results of this injury qualified him for retirement because of disability.

POLICE NEWS

Automobile thieves, or automobile parts thieves, were busy in this city last Saturday night. Several complaints were made to the police late Saturday night and Sunday of thefts from parked cars. Heretofore batteries and motor-meters have been the usual parts stolen, but lights seemed to be in demand on Saturday. The thefts occurred between 8 and 11. A horn and headlights were taken off a car owned by Robert Cox of 117 Nonantum street, Newton, and parked opposite 37 Cedar street, Newton Centre. Tools and a spotlight were stolen from a car parked opposite 117 Pleasant street, Newton Centre; the car is owned by Mary O'Brien of Highland avenue, Lexington. K. Bruce of Quint avenue, Allston, reported that a horn was stolen from his car while it was parked opposite 276 Mill stree, Newtonville. A headlight was taken off a car owned by Robert Pease of Randolph road, Brookline; this car was parked opposite 17 Berwick road, Newton Highlands.

Other thefts from automobiles on last Saturday night were the automobile license and registration of Dr. A. C. Cummings, taken from his car while it was parked back of his residence at 447 Centre street, Newton, parked on Charlesbank road, Newton.

Hugh Rainey of 268 Parker street, Newton Centre, was arrested last Friday evening by Patrolman McCormick charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. He was in court on Saturday and his case continued until March 20.

Daniel Gentile, 17, of 20 Emerald street, Newton court last Saturday of having entered four times the home of Francesco Lombardi on Capital street, Newton. On one occasion it was charged he stole $5, at another entrance he was charged with having stolen cigars, and the other two times the took nothing. He was sent to the Shirley Industrial School.

Herman Blumenthal of 9 Ripley road, Newton Centre, complained to the police last Saturday that his home of francesco Lombardi on Capital street, Newton Centre, complained to the police last Saturday that his home in family were away for several weeks.

ROTARY CLUB

Mr. Richard F. Davis, professional entertainer, hailed by the Service Gear, the weekly Newton Rotary Club paper, as Houdini's successor, entertained the members of the Newton Rotary Club and a number of guests from other clubs at the Monday luncheon meeting at the Woodland Golf Club with a marvellous performance of sleight-of-hand and memory tricks, much to the vast amusement and mystification of his audience. Mr. Davis was introduced by Mr. Wilbur Thompson who told in humorous fashion of their boyhood pranks together in Maine and of the great success which Mr. Davis has achieved in his country-wide travels from the time that he first started out as a young entertainer from the old Nicolodeon on Hanover street in Boston.

Emilio Valente of 4 Bulfinch place, Boston, formerly a resident of West Newton, was arrested Monday by Patrolman Lyons when he visited the latter village. Valente was in the Newton court last May and was fined $50 for driving a car after his license had been revoked. He was placed on probation and given time to pay the fine. He moved to Boston and did not pay the fine. In court Tuesday his fine was paid and he was released.

A saxophone owned by Prescott Downer, a student at Newton High School was stolen from a dressing room at the school on Tuesday afternoon.

The office of the Highland Mills at Needham street, Newton Highlands, was entered early Wednesday morning. With explosives they blew open the safe, damaging the furniture and blowing out the windows in the office. The efforts of the burglars were wasted as no money was in the safe. Inspector Goode of the Newton police believes the job to have been done by amateurs because of the unnecessary amount of explosive used.

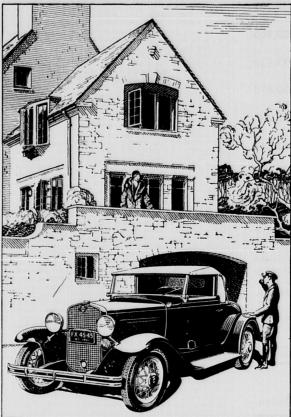

Donald Chamberlain of Arlington was arrested Tuesday night by Serg. Burke and Patrolman Maloney charged with trespassing, drunkenness and non-support. The trespass complaint was made by a resident of Lake avenue. Newton Centre, in whose home Chamberlain intruded. The Arlington man was in court on Tuesday and his case continued to May 16. KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS OBSERVE ST. PATRICK'S DAY

One of the most successful entertainments in the history of Newton Council, K. of C., was held Tuesday night at Elks' Hall, Newton. Over 400 members and gnests were present to enjoy an excellent program. Grand Knight Charles E. Coyne presided. The first feature on the program was an illustrated lecture on Ireland by James T. Barrett of Cambridge which was interposed by recitals of poems by the lecturer. This was followed by the rendition of a number of Irish melodies by Mrs. Mary Galvin Breault, soprano, whose beautiful voice caused the audience to demand encores. The McLaughlin children aroused enthusiasm by their extremely skilful exhibition of Irish folk dances. Tom Quinn, the well known Irish tenor, scored a big hit and the instrumental part of the program was capably provided by Louise Cunniff of Natick, planist and John Storer, accordion soloist of O'Leary's Irish minstrels. Following the program dancing was enjoyed until midnight.

City Engineer Morse Tendered Reception

Presented Clock in Recognition Of In High School Auditorium-Felix

William P. Morse of 34 Fairfax street, West Newton, City Engineer, was honored by his fellow employees at City Hall at a reception tendered to him in the Aldermanic chamber at City Hall last Saturday noon. The event marked the completion of 50 years in the service of the City of Newton by Mr. Morse. James Dempsey, secretary to Mayor Weeks and President of the City Hall Employees Association, presided at the affair, Mayor Weeks, in behalf of the employees and department heads, presented Mr. Morse with an electric clock. The Mayor told of the recipient's long and faithful service in the city's employ. Street Commissioner Stuart told of his long, and pleasant relations with Mr. Morse. A poem dedicated to Mr. Morse and entitled "Fifty Years Ago," written by Miss Gertrude Estes of the City Clerk's office, was read by Miss Margaret Curley of the Water Department office. In behalf of the employees, Miss Mary Ryan of the Comptroller's office presented Mrs. Morse with a bouquet of roses. A collation was served.

Mr. Morse entered the engineering department as a rodman on March 21, 1881 and was advanced through various grades until he was appointed City Engineer in 1924, succeeding Edwint H. Rogers.

Highland Glee Club Gives Fine Concert

Judging from the quality of Tuesday night's concert by the Highland Glee Club, this Newton male singing organization of seventy-three voices will be one of the leading competitors for first be honors at the contest to be held by the New England Federation of Men's Glee Clubs at Pawtucket, May ninth. The spring concert, held in the High School Auditorium, brought to a close the twenty-fourth season of this outstanding Newton musical organization which is contributing to the cultural life of the city. It was also the fifty second public performance, two being the singing was an exhibition of what may be accomplished with trained amateur voices and reflects great credit upon the director, Mr. D. Mr. Carl Switzer, the accompanist, performed with his usual skill and grace.

Tuesday night's program was arranged to show the technical skill of the group and to acquaint the audience with its more recent arrangements, not neglecting a touch of the old in "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny."

New faces were noticed in the organization, which undoubtedly had something to do with the improved quality of tone. The performance showed an absolute lack of strident or forced tones in the tenor section, which is always of concern to leaders of male choirs.

The selections rendered afforded a pleasing variety and showed a wide scope of ability. Mr. Schleicher again served as soloist and a touch of refined humor was given by "Music-Trust." The most effective selection was "The Pilot" by Protheroe, sung in memorfam to Frank H. Brooks, who for years was one of the leading spirits of the organization. It is a song of strength and hope and was sung with power of expression.

Felix Fox, the plano soloist, needs no introduction to Newton music lovers. His performance was fully up to his best standard and showed in a high degree chastened temperament, understanding interpretation and extensive technique. Chopin's "Ballade, A., Flatt Major" and "Valse Caprice," arranged from Strauss by Philipp, were among his renditions and brought forth round after round of applause.

A PIECE OF

"Broken Dishes" Is Well Presented

By Central Club Of Newtonville

Cong. Church

The popular comedy, "Broken Dishes," presented last Friday evening in the High School Auditorium by the Central Club of the Central Congregational Church of Newtonville, was a success in amateur acting. The parts were well taken, the attention of the audience did not lag for a moment from the first musical selection by the All Newton Music School Orchestra to the drop of the final curtain.

"Broken Dishes" represents an important episode in the life of a family which up to that time had been absolutely dominated by the mother who has always been openly regretting her marriage and holding up to her husband and three daughters her girlhood sweetheart as the image of manly perfection.

The part of Elaine Bumpstead, the only member of the family with any individuality or spunk left, was very charmingly protrayed by Edith Wharton who had a very lovely stage presence and showed considerable dramatic ability. Cyrus Bumpstead, a caricature of the henpecked husband, was taken by Derby Brown, who with Mrs. Brown coached the play. This was the heavy male part and was well acted. Alice D. Bond, as Jenny Bumpstead, the dominating wife, visualized her part well. The other parts were taken by Helen C. Ross, Katherine G. Hill, John E. Wakefield, Alfred H. Stafford, William E. Leonard, Richmond Bostwick and Clinton W. Tylee.

As the last scene closed with the wife dislilyusjoned as to her former Tylee.

As the last scene closed with the wife disillusioned as to her former lover who had turned out a criminal, the leading lady married in spite of her mother's vehement protests, and the father of the family smoking a cigar in the drawing room and master of his own household, the audience is satisfied. The characters stood out well and showed excellent training and no little histrionic ability, and the audience certainly enjoyed itself. The proceeds of the entertainment were given the Welfare Bureau.

Aldermen Hold Hearings On Zoning

Seeking Changes

Several hearings on petitions for changes in zoning were held by the Claims and Rules Committee of the Board of Aldermen at City Hall on Wednesday night. The first hearing held was that on the petition of Auburndale residents to change land on Grove street from manufacturing to single residence zone. This land, located alongside the Boston & Albany tracks where the Circuit branch crosses Grove street, and abutting the Woodland Golf Club links, was formerly the property of the railroad company. Mayor Seeks Plan To Have Buse

The meeting of the Newton School Committee on Monday night was taken up largely with transportation matters. The committee voted against the request of Mayor Weeks to have the buses which bring pupils to the High schools re-routed because of complaints from autoists who stated that the many extra school buses delay traffic on Walnut street mornings. The Mayor had asked the committee to devise plans which would eliminate this condition. It had been suggested that the buses go onto Elm road and into the driveway of the school to permit the pupils to alight from these vehicles.

permit the pupils to alight from these vehicles.

Mrs. Helen Hutchinson, reporting for the sub-committee appointed to investigate this matter, disagreed with the recommendation of Mayor Weeks. She stated that President Hanson of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway objects to the buses being routed onto Elm road, because they would have to make left turns and traffic hazards would be created. Mrs. Hutchinson did not approve of buses on Elm road because the pupils use this street to go from the Classical High School to the newer school buildings. She quoted police officials as saying that a traffic officer has been on duty at the High schools and no accidents have been reported.

A letter from Principal Irving Palmer of the High School was read in which Mr. Palmer stated that traffic conditions at the High School are satisfactory and he does not favor the change as proposed. Mr. Palmer called attention to the fact that if the buses entered Elm road they would be crossing traffic on Walnut street twice. He stated that if buses are allowed on Elm road, pupils may be injured. He also wrote that efficient traffic officers are assigned to duty on Walnut street and that he has never seen traffic delayed there more than 40 seconds, which is no longer than automobiles are held by the automatic traffic signal at Washington and Walnut streets.

School Committeeman Eliott Church gave the opinion that traffic conditions.

School Committeeman Eliott Church School Committeeman Ellott Churca gave the opinion that traffic conditions on Walnut street have improved since the street cars were eliminated. Mrs. Ward Cornell told of having observed conditions on Walnut street on Monday morning and that there is no need to change the present bus stops. There is but little delay to traffic. School Committee member Walter Amesbury is but little delay to traine. ScaooCommittee member Walter Amesbury

Coach Football

Superintendent of Schools U.
G. Wheeler issued the following announcement this morning regarding the appointment of football coaches at the High School. After careful consideration of the local field and of a large number of potential candidates for coaching positions the School Committee unanimously elected Mr. Ralph Sanborn, head football coach and Mr. Charles R. Considine as his assistant.

Mr. Sanborn has been a physical education teacher and football coach at Newton High School since 1922. His special assignment in football has been the intermediate teams with which he has had rather unsual success, losing only five games in the last three years. Before coming to Newton Mr. Sanborn was assistant coach of football at Cony High, Augusta, Maine, and head coach at Thornton Academy and Wilton Academy, where he had successful teams. He has been coaching football every year since he graduated from the University of New Hampshire in 1913.

Mr. Considine graduated from Newton High in 1924 and from Brown University in 1928. At Newton he played in the backfield under Mr. Dickinson but was changed to a centre at Brown where he was an outstanding linesman on the famous team of 1928. In September of 1928 he went to Plymouth High School as a teacher and coach where he produced an undefeated football team his first year. From Plymouth he came to Newton in 1929 as a teacher and as an assistant in football.

Mr. Wheeler also stated that no baseball coach had been appointed as yet.

Strike At Court House Is Settled

A strike was declared by union workmen at the new court house in West Newton last Friday. The trouble started over the employment on the job by John W. Duff, the contractor, of non-union laborers. The Building Laborers Union of Waltham, which has jurisdiction in this city demanded that all laborers on the job be union men and the five carpenters on the new building were ordered to strike in sympathy. The matter was complicated when only two of the five carpenters who struck were taken back, but difficulties were ironed out when Mr. Duff agreed to take back all the carpenters and hire only union laborers. Work on the court house was resumed on Monday.

LODGES

An entertainment under the auspices of Waban Lodge, 156, I. O. O. F., was given in the Odd Fellows building on Southgate Park on Wednesday evening before an audience of over one hundred and fifty. The cast, directed by Miss Myrtle Sara Weldon, included the following: Marjorie De Santis, Mary De Santis, Alice Curran, Dorothy Mason, Richard Trudo, Sylvia Meltzer, Phyllis Weldon, Marjorie Weldon, Eleanor Bergen, Ruth Bergen, Jeannette Meltzer, Mary Russo, Dorothy Conners, Jane Martel, Eleanor Mason, Ruth Murphy, Louise Keegan, Edna Keegan, Dorothy Fitzpatrick, Mary Fitzpatrick, Eleanor Beal, Mary York, Katherine York, Irene Welford, Mae Leach, Jane Martel, Mildred White, Florence Cook, Francis Cook, Sydney Guberman.

Mr. Carl Moore of radio fame rendered and sevent beleasing misnos sales.

Mr. Carl Moore of radio fame ren-dered several pleasing piano selec-tions. Miss Gertrude Beyer was the accompanist. Proceeds from the enter-tainment will go to the relief fund.

NEWTON GIRLS WIN AT WALTHAM

The Newton high girls' basketball eams made a clean sweep of the three lass games played against Waltham igh girls last week Thursday afteroon on the Newton high floor. The range and black won the senior game 2 to 9, the junior game 49 to 14, and he sophomore contest 33 to 16. Newon's margin of victory was decisive n every contest. The senior game arked the first defeat of the Watch ity outfit as it had otherwise comleted its intramural and interscholastic season with but one tie on an otherwise perfect slate.

In the 220-yard freetyle finals the local youth was secured to George Kojac, the Rutgers star. Osborne led his teammate Carl Leedy to the finish. In the 440-yard freetyle event Leedy was second and Osborne likely was second and Osborner. Curiously enough the finals of both these events were duplicates of hot this heats. In the trials in the 220-yard event Kojac was first, Osborne second, Leedy third and Kramer, unother Rutgers swimmer, fourth, and he quartet finished the same in the huals. In the 440-yard first trial Wood was the victor over Leedy and Osborne, with the trio qualifying for the inals.

Middlesex Takes Lead

Last Friday night Middlesex Sportsmen's Association took three points out of four from the Commercial Club of Brockton in their Newton league match on the latter's alleys. The three points put Middlesex into a top tie with Hunnewell with University a close third. Wednesday night Middlesex went to Weston and took all four from that team to jump into a three point lead as Hunnewell could take but one at Waban. University Club divided with Maugus and the former is now in a tie with Hunnewell for second place. Commercial could get but a single point on the Newton Club alleys but maintained its hold on fourth place. With but four matches to go the race has tightened up with Middlesex in the drivers seat although Hunnewell or University are still within striking distance. Indications are that the cruical match wilk be that between Middlesex and Hunnewell on the latter's alleys on April 15th, the next to the last match for both teams. The present standing:

the Business Associates if he knew of any influences at work to block the report of the Committee, Mr. Madden replied that all he could say was that some persons had been quite active in advocating the site of the old Opera House on Centre street and suggesting the purchase of that property by the City for a bus terminal; that it had been strongly advocated at the meeting of Associates in January, and that the members of the Committee had been approached individually with a view of recommending that taking.

it had been strongly advocated at the meeting of Associates in January, and that the members of the Committee had been approached individually with a view of recommending that taking, that after a discussion of the merits of that location nobody made a motion for it for the reason that it was too costly and too remote from the stores and depot, not to speak of the most public used building, the Post Office at the other extreme end of the square and that it would compel bus patrons to make that hike in an age when STEP ON—STEP OFF is the watchword in all business activities.

Alderman Harte inquired whether the proposed locations could be taken for parking purposes and ther exply was that busses could be parked there with other cars and the future would decide advisability of a terminal.

Andrew J. Ford said that what the business men of Newton Corner desire is parking spaces at both sides of the business section and not to invite through traffic by opening uptraffic arteries. POLICE NEWS

On July 5, 1927, Salvatore Brasco, then 17, and a resident of Cherry street, West Newton, appeared in the Newton Court. Brasco and a companion were found guilty of having stolen golf balls and other articles valued at $150 from the Charles River Country Club. Each of the youths was ordered to make restitution to the extent of $75, and on this condition, freed. Brasco, instead of making restitution went West. He returned last Friday with a bride, whom he had married at Lake Forrest, Illinois. The Newton police heard of the arrival of the bridegroom and Inspector Goode arrested him on a default warrant. Brasco was in the Newton court last Saturday and was again given an extended time to pay the $75. He was given a suspended sentence of three months in jail which will be imposed if the $75 is not paid. Hugh Rainey of 268 Parker street, Newton Centre, was fined $50 in the Newton court last Friday for driving while under the influence of liquor. Michael Noonan of K street, South Boston was arrested early last Friday morning by Sergt. Crowley and Patroiman Brayton, charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. He will be tried today.

The three Waltham youths, Felix Gumbert, Joseph McGonagle and William Marshall, accused of having stolen pocketbooks from several Newton churches, and with having snatched handbags from women, were found guilty in the Newton Court alst Friday and sentenced to the Shirley Industrial School.

Over the week-end some person or persons entered the Newton Technical High school and ransacked several of the rooms. Because of the numerous burglaries which have occurred the past couple of years in Newton schools, the School Department may have iron grills attached to all basement windows on school buildings. Chief Hughes of the Newton police has issued an order which states that members of his force will be held responsible for any damages occurring to motor vehicles of the Police Department which they may be operating, if it is proved that negligence on the part of the operator is th

STUDEBAKER PRESIDENT WINS national economy championship!

> Free Wheeling President Eight sets new A.A.A. record for gasoline economy in famous Pacific Coast contest. Free Wheeling Studebaker Six wins second honors.

ANOTHER triumph for Free Wheeling
... only two Free Wheeling Studebakers were entered in the third annual Gilmore-Wrightwood economy run-and they won first and second place . . . in competition with 40 other cars of 20 makes from the very cheapest to the most costly.

While this run proved officially only the economy of Free Wheeling, it demonstrated conclusively the simplicity of Free Wheeling as well, since all drivers were women.

Mrs. William Hurter, in a Free Wheeling President carrying five passengers, took first place with an American Automobile Association record of 46.71 ton miles per gallon of gasoline. Her car averaged better than 171/2 speedometer miles per gallon over the 200 mile route which extended continuously upward from sea level to 6000 feet elevation.

Mrs. Jeanne Frost, in a Free Wheeling Studebaker Six, won second honors. Her car averaged over 231/2 speedometer miles per gallon of gasoline but, because of its lighter weight, its ton mile average was 44.94. The Studebaker Six used less gasoline than any other sedan on the run. Neither car required the addition of oil

Free Wheeling not only saves gasoline and oil but chassis wear and repairs. It makes momentum take the place of gasoline-it gives you 10 speedometer miles for 8 engine miles.

With Free Wheeling, you shift back and forth between high and second at any speed without touching the clutch. You get the greatest driving thrill and driving safety in motoring. Highway commissioners and safety directors, after driving Free Wheeling Studebakers, have pronounced Free Wheeling with positive gear control a new measure of safety to driver and public.

This same Free Wheeling has been adopted by Pierce-Arrow and Lincoln. Decide now, that you will choose no new car of the old order until you first go Free Wheeling in a Studebaker President, Commander or Dictator Eight, or brilliant new low-priced Studebaker Six. See a Studebaker dealer today and arrange for a trial drive.

All Studebaker cars now have Free Wheeling. The Studebaker Six ($795 to $995), The Dictator Eight ($1095 to $1250), The Commander Eight ($1585 to $1730), The President Eight ($1850 to $2600). Prices at the factory.

Social Science Club

The next regular meeting of the Social Science Club will be on Wednesday, April 1, at 10 o'clock at the Hunnewell Club, Newton. This is to be a Business Meeting. The hostesses are to be Mrs. John T. Alden and Mrs. J. Herbert Young.

Newtonville Woman's Club

The Glee Club of the Newtonville Woman's Club will hold a rehearsal at the studio of Miss Dorothy Curtis, 297 Walnut street, on Wednesday morning, April 1, at 9,45 o'clock. Mrs. Clinton W. Kyle, chairman of the Glee Club, and Miss Curtis, leader and accompanist, plan to hold rehearsals every Wednesday morning throughout April. They are still pleased to welcome new members, and anyone desiring to join for the remainder of the Club year may do so. Anyone who enjoys singing is urged to join, as a trained voice is not a requisite for membership to the Glee Club.

The Art committee will arrange another one of their delightful trips, to take place some time in April. This time the Dedham Pottery Works will be visited, if a sufficient number are interested. Mrs. Austin Decatur, chairman of the Art committee, will be pleased to give any further information as to the plans, if those desiring to participate will telephone W. N. 6129, before April 4.

RECENT EVENTS

Community Service Club of West Newton

The anticipations of the member

The anticipations of the members of the Community Service Club of West Newton were fully realized at their Annual Musicale on Wednesday atternoon, March 18, when a trio from the Seventeenth Century Ensemble, composed of Miss Dorothy Brewster Comstock, Violinist, Mr. Jacob Lagendoen, Cellist, and Mr. Richard Mallay, pianist, and soloist, were the artists for the afternoon.

The entire program was so enjoyable that it would be difficult to make a choice among the many and varied a choice among the many and varied to compositions so delightfully rendered. The music of the trio was of a very high order and enthusiastically received by an appreciative audience, particularly the Trio in C Minor, by Beethoven.

Mr. Malaby, heralded as outstanding among the younger pianists of greater Boston, is wholly deserving of that reputation. He has a remarkably expressive touch and plays with much feeling. It has been said that an accompanist is born and not made, and in that capacity Mr. Malaby leaves anothing to be desired. His piano solost were especially enjoyed—a dainty Crafic to the contrast to this silence in which one could hear the fire silence in which one could hear the fire of the country of the silence in which one could hear the fire of the country of the proverbial pin drop, excessive of deep appreciation. In contrast to this his other selections showed remarkable brilliance and technique.

The Club is to be congratulated on having given such a delightful afternoon to its members and their friends, who shared with them the pleasure of their guest day.

Auburndale Woman's Club

Presidents' Day was observed by the Auburndale Woman's Club last Thursday afternoon, March 19, at the Auburndale Club House. Practically all business was omitted, with the exception of the presentation by the president, Mrs. C. Carter Willson, of the proposed change in meetings during the coming year. The Executive Board had recommended that the first meeting of the Club year in October, and the second in December, be given up, the money thus saved to be applied towards the program, possibly to include a course in Current Events. This matter will be open for discussion at the next regular meeting, at which time action will probably be taken.

Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

The final lecture in the Child Psychology course sponsored by the American Home committee and the Education committee of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands, was held at the Workshop on Friday, March 20th, with Miss Mary S. Bullard, principal of the "Children's School," as speaker. Miss Bullard, who is a well-known educator, a story-teller, and a member of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands, addressed the meeting on "The Psychology of Story Telling," illustrating her talk with many charming stories. She emphasized the importance of telling stories to children as a means of giving them happiness as well as for the educational value, the influence on character building being particularly stressed.

The Commonwealth Welfare Chest of which undertaking in the John Harcock building, the State Federation president, Mrs. Carl L. Schrader, was chairman, closed on Saturday, March 14. It could be closed with the satisfaction of a huge task well done. Clubwomen who assisted in this gigantic undertaking will appreciate information as given in the final bulletin issued by the Women's Sub-Committee of the Massachusetts Emergency Committee on Unemployment, signed by Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, chairman of the Women's Committee on Unemployment, and by Mrs. Schrader. In it is stated that as the Chest was established solely in aid of needy persons during the stress of the unemployment period, and as signs of distress were apparently disappearing, the permanent welfare organizations were now able to cope fully with the present situation.

The Chest provided clothing—shoes, and other articles of wearing apparel—to more than 40,000 persons. Several hundred thousand articles were collected and distributed.

In giving thanks to all who had assisted in this task the committee especially mentioned the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston, who provided space in their building and also turned over the com plete facilities of their advertising and publicity department; the Boston Re-tail Board of Trade; the John Don-nelly and Sons, Outdoor Advertising Agents; the fifty-five daily newspapers of the State, many weekly papers, the State, many weekly papers, radio stations, WBZ, WBZA and WEEI: and members of the National Civic Federation, Boston Branch, who for many weeks provided coffee, choc-olate and doughnuts at the Chest head-quarters to thousands of applicants.

For the pre-Easter program starting Sunday, March 27th the Paramount Theatre, Newton announces a varied program. Beginning Sunday Nancy Carroll, and Phillips Holmes will be seen in "Stolen Heaven," a story of a boy and girl who become man and woman, sambling away their young lives and facing death unafraid until love awakens in them the over-whelming desire to live. On the same program will be Dorothy MacKaill and a cast including Joel McRea, Ned Sparks, Mary Carr, Claire Kimball Young, and Bryant Washburn in "Kept Husbands."

For the last half of the week John Boles and Lupe Velez in "Resurrection," a story by Count Tolstoy of the best and worst in man and woman, is the feature. A college comedy, "Girls Demand Excitement" completes the bill.

As in other years the Publix management of the Paramount has decided to close the theatre until 3 p.m., on Good Friday in keeping with the ministerial and clergy wishes of the city.

The well intentioned efforts of the Newton Board of Aldermen to prevent more unsightly bill-boards in this city have been defeated in several instances. The Donnelly Company petitioned a few times within the past two years for permits to erect huge bill-boards on the roof of the one-story building at 221-225 Washington street, Newton Corner (opposite the old engine house site), and on the roof of the building at 349-363 Watertown street, Nonantum; also for big signs on the walls of buildings at 317 Watertown street, Nonantum and 337 Watertown street, Nonantum. The Newton aldermen each time these petitions were presented, refused them. Within the past couple of months, however, the Massachusetts Department of Public Works has overruled these decisions of the aldermen and has granted permits for the erection of these billboards and signs. The Public Works Department takes the stand that the locations are in business districts and are proper places for billboards. The only instance where the Public Works Department sustained the Board of Aldermen in refusing to grant a billboard location in a business district was in the case of the fact there is heavy traffic around this corner.

At the Constitutional Convention twelve and more years ago, the matter of curtailing the billboard nuisance was deliberated and referred to the people on a referendum. The vote against billboards was overwhelming. The law The law restricting billboards was supposed to have gone into effect in 1921. The law

The law restricting billboards was supposed to have gone into effect in 1921. Stricter regulations against billboards followed which were to take effect January 24, 1924. The billboard interests obtained an injunction on June 19 of that year which prevented the removal of from 12,000 to 14,000 of these big advertising signs, so objectionable to the majority of people and the Supreme Court of Massachusetts appointed a Master to sit on this case and obtain facts. Frank H. Stewart of Newton Centre was the appointee and a per-diem of $150$ was designated. Mr. Stewart sat for 130 days hearing voluminous evidence presented by attorneys for the billboard interests. This hearing of evidence dragged along until a year ago, when it was all presented. Recently a preliminary report was drafted by the master and when this question will be given a final decision remains to be seen. In the meantime, the verdict of the people of Massachusetts, as regards billboards has been largely negated over a long period of years.

THE DOUBLE AUTOMOBILE TAX

Local motorists are interested in the recent ruling by Commissioner of Corporations and Taxation Henry F. Long that automobiles not registered before April first are subject to a double tax, both excise and personal. The Automobile Legal Association advises the public that if they receive a personal property tax on their automobile it should be paid under protest and application made for abatement. It is unlikely that such a condition will occur however, as the legislature this week took under consideration a bill intended to eliminate such double taxation. Rules were suspended and eliminate such double taxation. Rules were suspended and quick action taken in order to make the new law operative before April first when assessments are made.

FROM RODMAN TO CITY ENGINEER

We would add our word of appreciation for the splendid and faithful service rendered by City Engineer William P. Morse, who recently completed fifty years in the city's employ. From a rodman to the head of the department is the story of Mr. Morse's career. During that time the city has changed and grown tremendously, yet the engineering department, because of its personnel, with Mr. Morse at its head, is one of the most efficient in the city.

Last week we commented upon the absence of certain "safety" lines near Newton Corner. We were glad to note that, before the issue was off the press, one of our suggestions had already been acted upon. We refer to the white line marking the centre of the bridge at Richardson street which has been the scene of near-accidents because many drivers were wont to use the left hand side of the road in taking that corner. We trust that action will soon be taken on the other suggestion in our editorial that a red curb line be painted at the southeastern corner of Centre and Elmwood streets where drivers frequently park their cars so as to obstruct entirely the view of drivers, both on Centre and Elmwood streets.

Why not begin that Spring Clean-up work now?

UNDER THE GILDED DOME Newton Upper Falls

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The signing by Governor Ely of the bill for road construction and an increase of one cent in the gasoline tax has ended discussion of one of the most important questions before this year's Legislature. There is little question but the guiding hand and wise counsel of Speaker Saltonstall helped in the solution of the matter. Newton should be grateful, too, to Representative Baker who, as a member of the House Ways and Means Committee, did a tremendous amount of work in preparing the several preliminary drafts and in studying the numerous details which had to be considered by his committee before final passage of the legislation. The test of a legislator's position came on the question of passing the bill to be enacted. Senator Hollis and Representative Baker voted for the bill and Representatives Luitwieler took part in the debate. There were 55 House members recorded against the bill and 5 Senators. With two Newton Representatives opposed and a Newton Representative and the Newton separate to have been evenly divided, as far as votes go, on the question.

The special committee of the two branches appointed to reapportion the Congressional districts began hearings this week. Representative Thompson is the only member from this city.

Apparently there will be no legislation passed this year affecting over hight camps and lodgings. The usual effort was made to have some kind of a bill passed but the legislators thus far have not displayed any great amount of interest.

The bill providing for a change in the method of censoring plays in Boston has been rejected. It caused to have some kind of a change in the method of censoring plays in Boston has been rejected. but the legislators thus far have not displayed any great amount of interest. The bill providing for a change in the method of censoring plays in Boston has been rejected. It caused considerable discussion at the time it was presented as it took away from the Mayor of Boston authority to prohibit the presentation of plays of which he did not approve. However, the bill received no support in the Legislature and was allowed to be killed without protest.

The House has substituted for adverse committee reports a number of bills providing for changes in the workmen's compensation law. These include increasing the amount allowed for compensation and extending the time during which payments shall be made. The Newton Representatives were recorded against the bills. There is a possibility that the bills will be rejected in the Senate. Botti branches have rejected the bill for the licensing of bicycles and their registration with local police authorities.

The so-called "Birth Control" bill was adversely reported by the Committee on Public Health and the reports accepted by both branches without debate.

Among the adverse committee reports accepted this week by both

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

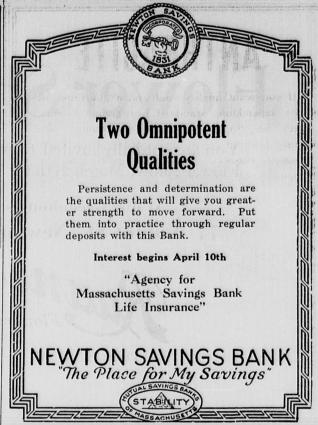

"Reality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 29.

The Golden Text is: "As the earth bringeth forth her bud, and as the garden causeth the things that are sown in it to spring forth; so the Lord God will cause righteousness and praise to spring forth before all the nations" (Isaiah 61:11).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And the work of righteousness shall be peace; and the effect of righteousness quietness and assurance for ever" (Isaiah 32:17).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God fashions all things, after His own likeness. Life is reflected in existence, Truth in truthtulness, God in goodness, which impart their own peace and permanence" (p. 516).

At the meeting of the Camp Committee held last Saturday, it was decided to build a new incinerator, to improve the sanitary system at Camp, make repairs on buildings, and to add needed equipment for water sports if the necessary money could be secured.

Basketball
The Newton Y. M. C. A. Junior Basketball Team defeated Trinity Church Senior Team of Boston, Saturday evening, 35 to 17, at the Boston Y. M. C. A. Kasper scored 10 points, Lansed §, Clark 7, Herlihy 6, Bass and Plenty 2 each, for Newton. Kondayn and Nicholas scored the majority of Trinity's points. The score was 14 to 10 in favor of Newton at the end of the first half. The Newton boys managed to score 21 points in the second half and held their opponents to 7 points. The Juniors play the Quincy Y. M. C. A. Junior Team next Saturday at the local sym. This will finish the games for the season for the team.

Several boys competed in the Two

State Y. M. C. A. Junior Track Championships at the Boston "Y" Saturday. The boys made a fair showing but were not quite fast enough to score points. Andrew Kasper, Willie Lansed, Lawrence Plenty, Edward Stanton, Richard Rankin, and Willie Gramzow competed for Newton.

Swimming

Swimming

The Y. M. C. A. Intermediate Swimming Team defeated Brockton in the local pool, 30 to 27 in a very closely contested Swimming Meet Saturday afternoon. Each team won three first places, but the winning of the relay by the Newton team gave them the meet. The feature event of the meet was the 40-yard free style which was the last event and was won by Charles Jack of Newton in a very close and exciting finish. Jack also swam on Newton's winning relay team. Sam Adams took first in the 100-yard free style and swam on the relay team. Norman Anderson and Donald Skauen took second and third places respectively in the 40-yard breast stroke. Milton Jones took second in the diving. John Lovely took third in the back stroke and also swam on the relay team, and Edward Hoffman swam in the back stoke and helped to win the relay. This finishes the dual meet competition for the Intermediate Team for the season.

The team enjoyed a fairly successful season, defeating every team at least once, with the exception of the two Boston Boys' Club Teams, besides winning second place in the Y. M. C. A. Championships.

Troop 10 held a very interesting meeting this week. Quite a number of former troop members now away from college attended this meeting. First Class Badges were awarded to Louise Kimball and Charlotte Klein. A large number of merit badges were given out at this meeting.

A number of years ago Newton Girl Scouts had a very successful troop at the Peabody Home for crippled children at Oak Hill. Unfortunately the troop had to be given up, but it has been started again. The girls had their first meeting last week with Janice Upham as their Captain. This will be Troop 12.

A meeting of the Court of Awards was held at the home of Mrs. Grosvenor Marcy in Newton Highlands on Monday afternoon. Reports were given of tests taken and merit badges awarded during the year and plans made for another year to meet the growth of the Merit Badge work and the increasing number of tests that are being asked for every month. After an enthusiastic meeting, tea was served.

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT COUNCIL OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

The Annual meeting of the Norum ega District Council of Religiou Education was held last Tuesday evening at the Central Church, with an attendance of 70. This was one of the best attended business meeting that has yet been held in the Dis that has yet been held in the District.

A large part of the evening was given over to discussion of the subject "How to Secure Sunday School Teachers." Under this much interest was shown in these sub-topics, "Should young people under sixteen be asked to teach?" "Should teachers move on with their classes?" "Should a superintendent minimize the task or bring out its magnitude when approaching a prospective teacher?" The general conclusion as expressed was that well qualified young people might teach under supervision of an older teacher, thus keeping alive their desire for leadership, but not giving them entire responsibility. The magnitude of the task should be emphasized, said Mr. Stevenson, of Needham, one of the speakers, and this policy seems to have been successful in Mr. Stevenson's school.

Rev. Chas. E. Keith of Roxbury described, a sextence of successful in a sextence of the supervised of the speakers.

Rev. Chas. E. Keith of Roxbury de-scribed a system of training young beople for service in his church chool, and brought out the idea that both older and younger teachers will espond to a genuine appeal for the work if approached by the minister and a church committee who are mak-ng religious education a major part eligious education a major parte church's task.

Officers for 1931-32 were elected, br. Mark H. Ward, president; Mr. R. b. Walter, treasurer; Mr. Wm. R. erry, finance chairman; Miss alliona Barker, executive secretary; tiss Grace Briggs, recording secre-

ONE THING AND ANOTHER By L. D. G. BENTLEY

How about your desk and its contents? Have you accumulated a lot of papers, clippings, and things that you from time to time have put away for future reference and can't tell for the life of you why they were preserved?

the life of you why they were preserved?

Before asking for confessions let me tell you that I am the possessor of a lot of things that once seemed of immense value but now cause me to demand of myself some explanation. The same friend who has gone in for amateur photography and of whom I have previously written started all this. He insisted on making a snapshot of me seated at my desk. He was proud of his achievement—not the subject but the negative—and took it home. His wife showed it to their nine-year-old daughter. The youngster at once revealed her training and incidentally her New England background by saying, "I don't think Mr. Bentley keeps his desk very neat."

It would be useless to deny the charge. When I admit its truth, however, I feel that I am not alone but in the company so often sought by I those in misery or approaching that state. If there is any task I hesitate to perform it is "clearing up" my desk. Not until I have resisted pressure from friendly critics do I yield and then I procure a large waste-basket and proceed.

The operation is not as simple as it I sounds. The trouble is that you never.

Sure enough, that was what happened or appeared to happen. As you well know, there is strip of lawn in front of the municipal structure on School street and when my friend threw several haudfuls of corn on the grass a number of pigeons alighted and began feeding. He declared they had followed us, but I could not iden-tify them myself. They looked like the very same pigeons, I'll say that.

tify them myself. They looked like the very same pigeons, I'll say that.

"You see," the man explained, "you can't throw bread to pigeons in the street for they take longer to eat it and then an automobile is likely to come along and crush them."

He told me that he bought "scratch feed" in bags containing 100 pounds and that he estimated that each day he distributed 20 pounds. The cost, he insisted, was trifling when compared to the satisfaction of knowing that the pigeons were not going hungry."

I asked him, if he ever missed a day and he assured me that he managed to make his rounds practically every week-day. "I must hurry along now," he apologized as we parted, "for I am a little late and I know that the pigeons are looking for an early supper."

Strikes me that the Board of Alder-Man.

At this point be paused, took my arm and pointed at a building on Washington street in Newspaper Row.

"See, those pigeons have been roosting there and waiting for me to come along. They'll follow me to City Hall," he declared.

A Wise Young Prince. Not Trusting the Senate. A Prohibition Item. Cancer in Hens.

Wise is the young Prince of Wales, now traveling with his brother in South America to promote sales of British goods. Speaking of American methods, he told fellow citizens and methods, he told lenow cluzens and future subjects some time ago that they must learn to "adopt, adapt and improve" the best methods everywhere.

Opening a "British Exposition" in Buenos Aires, the Prince complained that the exhibition had not been sufficiently advertised, ordered publicity experts to advertise the affair as an all-South American exhibition, and to advertise extensively.

Two things make success: first, hav-ing what the people want; second, let-ting them know through advertising that you have it. The Prince knows

Our Government, you are told, seeks some way of doing what Great Britain wants done about our navy, without submitting the matter to the United States Senate.

States Senate.

When you have a Government that will not give the Senate an opportunity to express its opinion, you know there is something wrong with the Government or the Senate, or both. You read also that the British are alarmed by French plans to build a powerful submarine fleet, regardless of naval pacts. We take the orders of Britain and pretend to like them.

Britain and pretend to like them.
But the French, unlike us, are not docile and they are logical. They have just finished one war, bearing the brunt, while England was getting her men ready. They don't mean to have another such experience, and will keep submarines enough to sink anything that floats. In addition, they have the most powerful fighting air fleet in the world.

While this country wonders whether While this country wonders whether the Russians are quite good enough to do business with us, Germany sends seventeen of her biggest industrialists on a trip through Russia. Those gentlemen bring back orders for about seventy-five million dollars worth of goods and it is believed that Russian sales in Germany for the current year will amount to $200,000,000, which Germany considers worth having.

Germany is building a plane to go up ten miles—even at that height we shall know little about the air ocean above us. We are like deep-sea fish that cannot go near the surface. If they came to the top, they would burst because of diminished pressure. If we went to the top of our air ocean, blood vessels in our lungs would burst, and we should die, long before reaching the top, for lack of oxygen.

However, we shall reach the top some day, in air-tight flying compariments, with oxygen supplied under normal atmospheric pressure. Thus far we have risen to only one-fiftieth part of the atmosphere's depth, and, like the fishes in their depths, we think we are on top of the world. We are mistaken. TO TREE Henry H. Curran, who doesn't be-lieve in prohibition, says that without it two million Americans would have had no income tax to pay this year. "Without prohibition the national government would be taking in about $852,000,000 this year in revenue on wine, beer and spirits." And the worst of it, according to Mr. Curran, is "all these hundreds of millions and more way the problems of headlegrown. go into the pockets of bootleggers,

POLICE NEWS

Joseph Maggazu of $4 California St.
Nonantum, was fined $50 in the Waltham court yesterday and given a suspended jail sentence of 30 days for driving while under the influence of liquor.

A sedan owned by Daniel Sullivan of 23 Kenwood avenue, Newton Centre, was stolen Wednesday night while parked in front of his home. A car owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Broderick of 37 Mayflower road, Chestnut Hill, was stolen from in front of that address at about 1.30 Wednesday afternoon. It was later found abandoned in Melrose. This is the third car stolen from this section on afternoons within the past couple of weeks which have later been found in Medford and Melrose.

William Jones, 26, of Brock street, Brighton, failed to appear in the Newton court Wednesday to answer charges of drunkenness and assault on Patrolman William Dolan. A default warrant was issued against him. Jones landed a heavy blow on one of Patrolman Dolan's eyes while the veteran officer was arresting him Tuesday afternoon at Chestnut Hill.

Arthur H. Vaughan, Jr., of Waban was fined $10 in the Newton court on Wednesday for speeding. In court the same day Sophie Rutstein of Boston

Arthur H. Vaughan, Jr., of Waban was fined $10 in the Newton court on Wednesday for speeding. In court the same day Sophie Rutstein of Boston was charged by the Board of Health with failure to connect a house owned by her with a sewer. Her case was continued to April 1.

Albert T. Daley of Pearl street, Newton, was fined $500 in the Superior Court at Manchester, New Hampshire, on Tuesday and given a suspended sentence of one year in jail. He was found guilty of drunken driving. Daley was the driver of a car which crashed into a stone wall near that city last August. As a result of this accident Anna Quirk of Boston and George Joyce of West Newton, who were riding with Daley, received fatal injuries. A car owned by Stephen Warren of Boylston street, Newton Highlands, was stolen in Boston on Monday night. It was later found at Lowell.
